PLAYOFF PLAN

TIEBREAKING PROCEDURES

DIVISION TIES

TWO CLUBS

1. Head-to-head (best won-lost-tied percentage in games between the clubs).
2. Best won-lost-tied percentage in games played within the division.
3. Best won-lost-tied percentage in games played within the conference.
4. Best won-lost-tied percentage in common games, if applicable.
5. Best net points in division games.
6. Best net points in all games.
7. Strength of schedule.
8. Best net touchdowns in all games.
9. Coin toss.

THREE OR MORE CLUBS

(Note: If two clubs remain tied after other clubs are eliminated during any step, tie-breaker reverts to step 1 of two-club format.)

1. Head-to-head (best won-lost-tied percentage in games among the clubs).
2. Best won-lost-tied percentage in games played within the division.
3. Best won-lost-tied percentage in games played within the conference.
4. Best won-lost-tied percentage in common games.
5. Best net points in division games.
6. Best net points in all games.
7. Strength of schedule.
8. Best net touchdowns in all games.
9. Coin toss.

WILD-CARD TIES

If necessary to break ties to determine the three wild-card clubs from each conference, the following steps will be taken:

1. If all the tied clubs are from the same division, apply division tie-breaker.
2. If the tied clubs are from different divisions, apply the steps listed below.
3. When the first wild-card team has been identified, the procedure is repeated to name the second wild card (i.e., eliminate all but the highest-ranked club in each division prior to proceeding to step 2), and repeated a third time, if necessary, to identify the third wild card. In situations where three or more teams from the same division are involved in the procedure, the original seeding of the teams remains the same for subsequent applications of the tie-breaker if the top-ranked team in that division qualifies for a wild-card berth.

TWO CLUBS

1. Head-to-head, if applicable.
2. Best won-lost-tied percentage in games played within the conference.
3. Best won-lost-tied percentage in common games, minimum of four.
4. Best average net points in conference games.
5. Best net points in all games.
6. Strength of schedule.
7. Best net touchdowns in all games.
8. Coin toss.

THREE OR MORE CLUBS

(Note: If two clubs remain tied after other clubs are eliminated, tie-breaker reverts to step 1 of two-club format.)

1. Apply division tie-breaker to eliminate all but highest-ranked club in each division prior to proceeding to step 1. The original seeding within a division upon application of the division tie-breaker remains the same for all subsequent applications of the procedure that are necessary to identify the three wild-card participants.
2. Head-to-head sweep (applicable only if one club has defeated each of the others or one club has lost to each of the others).
3. Best won-lost-tied percentage in games played within the conference.
4. Best won-lost-tied percentage in common games, minimum of four.
5. Best average net points in conference games.
6. Best net points in all games.
7. Strength of schedule.
8. Best net touchdowns in all games.
9. Coin toss.

YEAR IN REVIEW

THE TOP STORIES OF THE PAST YEAR

By VITO STELLINO

The NFL celebrated its past and took a bold step into the future during its 75th season in 1994.

While the league outfitted its teams in "throwback" uniforms and named an all-time team, it also implemented a salary cap tied to free agency that raised player salaries and still gave owners a ceiling on player expenses.

It also began an era in which teams have to learn how to structure contracts to stay under the cap and still be competitive on the field.

The San Francisco 49ers became a trendsetter when they rebuilt their defense with free agents such as Deion Sanders, Ken Norton, Rickey Jackson and Gary Plummer while remaining under the cap. As a result, they dethroned the Dallas Cowboys to become the NFL's first five-time Super Bowl champ.

The league also ushered in an era of free agency for franchises when the Los Angeles Rams abandoned the nation's second-largest market for a lucrative deal in St. Louis that virtually guarantees them more than $20 million in profits per season.

The owners rejected the move in March 1995 before approving it less than a month later when the Rams agreed to give them a bigger share of their financial windfall. It also sent a message to cities with inadequate stadiums: The price of an NFL franchise in the 21st century will be steep, and a modern stadium with luxury boxes and club seats will be necessary.

The league has come a long way since 1920, when George Halas and a few of his buddies gathered in a Hupmobile showroom in Canton, Ohio, to form the American Professional Football Conference. It changed its name to the National Football League in 1922. The membership fee was $100, but nobody paid it. Franchises now are going for close to $200 million.

The founding fathers never dreamed the league would one day become the nation's most popular sport, featuring Super Sundays, radio helmets and premium-seat licenses.

The NFL is the only sports league that can regularly draw big national TV ratings for regular-season games in prime time. Monday Night Football, a fixture on ABC since 1970, was the fifth highest-rated prime time show of the 1994-95 television season. Sitcoms and made-for-TV movies come and go, but MNF, which celebrated its 25th season in 1994, seems destined to remain popular for years to come.

While it was celebrating its milestones, the league also was looking ahead. It started NFL Season Ticket, a subscription service available for satellite TV dish owners. The league is expected to sign up more customers as the new 18-inch dishes become more popular.

The NFL even entered the brave new world of interactive media by creating an Internet site (http:/nflhome.com) for information on the draft.

Another NFL venture, an all-European six-team World League, suffered some growing pains. An earlier World League with U.S. teams folded after only two seasons, but the European version was a joint venture between the league and Rupert Murdoch's Fox/News Corporation. First-year attendance was disappointing, but the NFL supposedly is committed for four years.

On the field, the Dallas Cowboys discovered something that hasn't changed in 75 years: Winning three NFL titles in a row is hard. It has been done only twice in league history, both times by the Green Bay Packers, who turned the trick in 1929-30-31 (before there was a championship game) and in 1965-66-67 (the latter two climaxing in the first two Super Bowls).

Dallas lost in the NFC title game to the 49ers, who went on to carve out a place in NFL history by becoming the first team to win the Super Bowl five times. San Francisco's 49-26 rout of the San Diego Chargers in Super Bowl XXIX marked the NFC's 11th consecutive Super Bowl victory.

The most significant aspect of the 1994 season, however, may have been that it was played in its entirety. While baseball and hockey were hit by bitter work stoppages that shortened their seasons and the NBA played without a labor contract, the NFL enjoyed the second year of a seven-year deal that gives the players free agency and the owners a salary cap.

After enduring strikes in 1974, 1982 and 1987 and a war with the USFL in the mid-1980s, these are the best of times for the NFL.

The drive for five

A subplot to the 1994 season was the race to see which team would become the first to win five Super Bowls.

Three clubs—San Francisco, Dallas and Pittsburgh—had won four, and all three advanced to their conference title game.

The Steelers were stunned, 17-13, by the upstart Chargers in the AFC title game. It would be San Diego's first appearance in the Super Bowl, but it probably didn't matter which team represented the AFC in Miami. Once San Francisco beat Dallas for the NFC crown (dubbed "The Real Super Bowl" by many people), the 49ers knew the Super Bowl would be nothing more than a coronation. They were favored by 18 points—the biggest spread in the game's history—and covered easily as Steve Young threw a record six touchdown passes.

Even though his team was heavily favored, it still was an emotional victory for 49ers Owner Edward J. DeBartolo, Jr. As he accepted the gleaming Vince Lombardi Trophy from Commissioner Paul Tagliabue, he choked up and said, "This is a very, very important victory. This one's for dad." His father, shopping-center magnate Edward J. DeBartolo Sr., had died a few weeks earlier.

49ers President Carmen Policy had called the Super Bowl anticlimactic after the NFC title game but retracted those comments in the euphoria of the Super Bowl victory.

"If somebody would serve me a plate that was loaded with my words, I'd eat them," he said. "As a practical matter, I will say this: The feeling after the Dallas game was truly euphoric. But to suggest that the culmination of the season would be anticlimactic would be irresponsible. . . . Tonight we have closure, tonight we have fulfillment."

The 49ers' triumph was a victory for a team that handled the salary cap more shrewdly than any other. The cap was supposed to handicap free-spending clubs like San Francisco, but that's not how it worked.

When Sanders rejected better offers to sign with the 49ers because he wanted to win a Super Bowl, some teams thought San Francisco had to be cheating. The league checked the 49ers' books and found nothing.

The 49ers simply had succeeded again.

Nice guys finish first

The 1994 season was a triumph for two of the NFL's truly nice guys—San Francisco Coach George Seifert and quarterback Steve Young, who finally emerged from the huge shadows cast by Bill Walsh and Joe Montana, respectively.

Seifert won 50 games faster than any coach in NFL history, and the 49ers advanced to the NFC title game four times in his first five years and won the Super Bowl in his first season on the job (1989). But Seifert also presided over three title-game losses and had failed—at least in the minds of impatient 49ers fans—to meet the standard set by Walsh.

When the 49ers, hit by numerous injuries on the offensive line, struggled to a 3-2 start (including a stunning 40-8 loss to Philadelphia), a San Francisco radio station polled its listeners about whether Seifert should be replaced by former Dallas coach Jimmy Johnson. Eighty-five percent of the respondents said yes, and there was speculation all season that Seifert would be fired if the 49ers did not win the Super Bowl. After the 49ers did win, Seifert got a two-year contract extension.

For Seifert, coaching the 49ers isn't just a job, it's a dream come true. He is a San Francisco native who went to high school across from old Kezar Stadium and was an usher there in the days of Y.A. Tittle.

"I have a love affair with this place. It's my home," he said. "It's unique that you can be the coach of your team."

Young, meanwhile, just wanted acceptance. Despite winning four NFL passing titles and a pair of MVP awards in his first four years as the 49ers' No. 1 quarterback, he still hadn't been accepted by the team's fans. His crime? He hadn't won a Super Bowl, something Montana did four times. 49ers followers weren't too pleased, either, after Montana, who had moved on to Kansas City, outdueled Young in the Chiefs' 24-17 victory over the 49ers in the second week of the season.

"Maybe the student still has something to learn from the master," Young said afterward.

Young went on to become a master himself, gradually winning over fans in the 49ers' playoff run. After the NFC title-game victory over the Cowboys at Candlestick Park, fans serenaded him with chants of "Steve, Steve, Steve!" as he held the ball over his head.

Two weeks later, Young cradled the Super Bowl trophy in his arms like a baby. An analytical sort who has a law degree from BYU, Young said he had no regrets about a football career that included stops in the old USFL, two ill-fated seasons in Tampa Bay and years of trying to live up to the Montana legend in San Francisco.

"A lot of the teammates that I had are still friends to this day," he said. "In 10 years, I'll have the ring, but I'll have the relationships and that will be more important."

Close, but no threepeat

Once again, injuries and turnovers proved to be the undoing of a team attempting to win its third consecutive Super Bowl.

In 1976, the Pittsburgh Steelers went into the AFC title game against the Oakland Raiders with both of their starting running backs, Franco Harris and Rocky Bleier, and their kicker, Roy Gerela, out with injuries. They lost, 24-7. In 1990, the 49ers had a 13-12 lead and possession late in the NFC title game against the Giants before Roger Craig fumbled and Lawrence Taylor recovered to set up Matt Bahr's game-winning field goal in a 15-13 New York win.

The Cowboys faced similar woes in 1994. They lost the league's best offensive tackle, Erik Williams, when he sustained a knee injury in a car accident October 23. Then, on December 19, Emmitt Smith pulled a hamstring in a game against the Saints and never regained his form the rest of the year.

In addition, quarterback Troy Aikman sprained his thumb two days before a big game at San Francisco on November 13. The 49ers intercepted Aikman three times and beat the Cowboys, 21-14, in a contest that ultimately decided home-field advantage in the playoffs. In the NFC title game, the Cowboys committed three turnovers in the first seven minutes to fall into a 21-0 hole and wound up losing, 38-28.

Another factor in the Cowboys' demise was the clash of egos between owner Jerry Jones and coach Jimmy Johnson that resulted in Jones paying Johnson $2 million to leave the team in March 1994. Jones replaced Johnson with former Oklahoma coach Barry Switzer, who'd been away from the game five years. The rookie coach took a crucial penalty in the NFC title game when he bumped an official while complaining that there should have been an interference call against Sanders as Dallas was attempting to cut into the 49ers' lead in the fourth quarter. The penalty pushed the Cowboys into a third-and-25 situation from their 42; they gave up the ball two plays later and didn't score again.

Switzer ranted about the condition of the field at Candlestick Park and the officiating after the game. Johnson, who took potshots at Switzer and Jones much of the season as an analyst for Fox and HBO, noted after the Cowboys' loss that he never was penalized in his coaching career.

The 'other' conference

Although the AFC, the NFL's version of the Washington Generals, lost in the Super Bowl for the 11th straight year, it did manage to produce a new champion for the first time in five seasons.

The Buffalo Bills, who in January 1994 became the first team to lose four consecutive Super Bowls, didn't get a chance to lose a fifth. Victimized by age and free agency, the Bills struggled through a 7-9 season and didn't qualify for postseason play.

San Diego replaced Buffalo as conference champion. With Stan Humphries passing for 3,209 yards, the Chargers started the season 6-0, won the AFC West with an 11-5 mark, then won back-to-back playoff games in nail-biting fashion. They beat the Miami Dolphins, 22-21, when Pete Stoyvanich missed a 48-yard field-goal attempt with a second left, and beat the Steelers in the AFC title game, 17-13, when linebacker Dennis Gibson batted away a Neil O'Donnell pass to Barry Foster on fourth down from the Steelers' 3 with 1:08 left.

It was a devastating loss for the Steelers, who had home-field advantage for the second time in Bill Cowher's three years as coach—and again failed to advance to the Super Bowl.

Miami's loss was just as frustrating for Don Shula, who had hoped to become the first coach to win the Super Bowl in his home stadium. Although Shula is the winningest coach in NFL history, he hasn't gotten Miami to the Super Bowl since the 1984 season and hasn't won it since the 1973 season.

The architects of San Diego's success were General Manager Bobby Beathard and Coach Bobby Ross. Beathard rebuilt the team after taking over in 1990; he hired Ross, then a successful college coach at Georgia Tech, two years later.

Ups and downs

Of the 12 teams that made the playoffs in 1993, seven returned in '94. Five of six NFC playoff teams made it back, with Chicago replacing the New York Giants. In the AFC, only Pittsburgh and Kansas City returned to postseason play. San Diego, Miami, Cleveland and New England replaced Buffalo, Houston, the Los Angeles Raiders and Denver.

The team that made the most dramatic turnaround was the Patriots, who went from 5-11 in 1993 to 10-6 and earned a wild-card berth. Coach Bill Parcells, who won a pair of Super Bowls with the Giants, may be building another Super Bowl contender. His quarterback, Drew Bledsoe, led the NFL in passing attempts (691), completions (400) and yardage (4,555) last year.

The team that suffered the biggest collapse was the Houston Oilers, who plummeted from 12-4 to 2-14. Management's decision to trade high-salaried veteran quarterback Warren Moon and go with younger, cheaper Cody Carlson backfired, costing Coach Jack Pardee his job. Pardee was fired after Houston started 1-9; his replacement, defensive coordinator Jeff Fisher, didn't fare much better. The Oilers went 1-5 under Fisher, who nonetheless retained the job for 1995.

Coaching merry-go-round

Pardee wasn't the only coach to get pink-slipped in 1994, although he was the only one to be fired during the season. Wade Phillips (Denver), Pete Carroll (New York Jets), Art Shell (Los Angeles Raiders), Tom Flores (Seattle), Chuck Knox (Los Angeles Rams) and Rich Kotite (Philadelphia) all were let go after the season.

Carroll's firing was the most surprising, coming after only one year. Even more surprising was Jets Owner Leon Hess' decision to hire Kotite to replace him. The Eagles lost their final seven games of 1994 under Kotite, but Hess was familiar with him from Kotite's days as a Jets assistant.

The San Francisco 49ers lost both their coordinators to coaching jobs, which isn't surprising for a Super Bowl winner. Offensive coordinator Mike Shanahan was hired by Denver. Ray Rhodes, a defensive mastermind, was hired by Philadelphia. Eagles Owner Jeff Lurie toyed with the idea of bringing back Dick Vermeil, who popularized the term "burnout" when he quit as Eagles coach in 1982. Vermeil was interested, but the two sides couldn't reach agreement.

The other new coaches are NFL first-timers: Dennis Erickson in Seattle, Mike White in Los Angeles and Rich Brooks in St. Louis. White was a Raiders assistant who moved up, while Erickson (Miami) and Brooks (Oregon) left college jobs for the NFL.

Including expansion coaches Tom Coughlin (Jacksonville) and Dom Capers (Carolina), eight of the NFL's 30 teams will have new coaches.

NFL hot on TV

The NFL had a new look on TV in 1994 as CBS's 38-year association with the NFL ended and the Fox Network's began. Fox outbid CBS for the right to televise NFC games.

Fox, which estimates it will lose $350 million on its four-year, $1.58 billion deal, got a 12.1 rating in its initial NFL season. That was a 6 percent drop from that posted by CBS in 1993, mainly because many of Fox's affiliates are weaker UHF (above channel 13) stations.

The AFC package on NBC topped the NFC package for the first time since 1975. The AFC finished with a 12.5 rating, an 11 percent increase over the year before. The NFC package usually wins the ratings derby because it has more of the nation's bigger markets, but Fox's signal problems and a number of exciting AFC games gave NBC the edge. (Incidentally, NBC is paying $178 million less than Fox each year.)

Despite all that, Fox was pleased. The network feels pro football gives it more visibility and Fox thinks its ratings will improve because it is gaining 12 affiliates (eight from CBS) that are VHF stations (channels 2-13) in a $500 million deal with New World Communications.

Monday Night Football was the fifth highest-rated prime time show (17.8) in 1994. It increased one rating point over 1993 and helped give ABC its first overall prime time ratings victory in 15 years.

The cable packages on ESPN and TNT were popular, too. NFL games grabbed 18 of the top 20 spots on cable last year, and a Detroit-at-Miami game on Christmas night earned a 14.2 rating on ESPN, the highest of all cable shows in 1994.

Movin' East

The Rams, who started the westward migration of sports teams when they moved from Cleveland to Los Angeles in 1946, got formal approval to move to St. Louis in April 1995.

The owners, who initially rejected the move by a 21-3 margin in March (with six abstentions), voted to approve it (by a 23-6-1 margin) after the Rams offered to pay the league at least $46 million—a $17 million share of premium-seat license fees generated in St. Louis and a $29 million relocation fee. When the owners first rejected the proposal, the Rams were offering about $25 million.

The Rams agreed to pay up to $12.5 million toward a rebate to Fox if NFC ratings go down in the Los Angeles area. The Rams also will forego about $13 million in expansion fees if the league expands in the next 10 years and Southern California isn't awarded a team.

Despite the fact that nothing changed from March to April except the amount of money the Rams agreed to pay, Tagliabue insisted money wasn't a major issue in the voting reversal.

"It did not come down to a money deal. That's a completely erroneous implication. The money involved here was insignificant," he said. "It's a sign of the times that the NFL considers $46 million to be insignificant."

The Rams' move rendered the league's moving "guidelines" virtually meaningless. In effect, the owners said the Rams didn't meet them, but approved the move anyway.

"The NFL's got some mighty tall explaining to do as to how violations of their own relocation policy suddenly became acceptable," bellowed player agent Leigh Steinberg, who led an effort to keep the Rams in Los Angeles.

The explanation, however, was simple. The Rams, St. Louis and the state of Missouri threatened to file lawsuits against the league unless the move was approved. The Rams also threatened to move to St. Louis without league approval and dare the NFL to stop them.

Tagliabue decided he wanted peace in his time. He had misjudged the resolve of Rams Owner Georgia Frontiere, whom Tagliabue thought would back down or sell the team when the owners rejected the move the first time.

Instead, she was ready to go to court.

"I wouldn't say the Rams qualified (to move)," said Oilers Owner Bud Adams, chairman of the league's finance committee. "But business-wise, we voted them in because it's a good deal for them and a good deal for St. Louis."

It's not a good deal, it's a great one. In the 30-year lease, the Rams get all revenues from tickets except 15 percent of the club seat and luxury box revenue. They will pay only $250,000 a year in rent and half of game-day expenses. They get $13 million in relocation expenses, $12.5 million for a training facility and $30 million to pay off their stadium bonds in Anaheim. St. Louis even pays the Rams' insurance fees. On top of that, St. Louis also agreed to re-modernize the stadium in the future if it falls below the top 25 percent of NFL stadiums.

The hard (?) cap

When the NFL's so-called "hard" salary cap of $34.6 million a team was implemented in 1994, several teams cut high-priced veterans to meet it. The decision of the NFL Players Association to agree to a cap in a tradeoff for free agency was criticized.

But the cap isn't as hard as it appears. Since signing bonuses are pro-rated to future years, 18 clubs actually spent more than $34.6 million on player salaries in 1994. The Washington Redskins, who had to count only $625,000 of Heath Shuler's $5 million signing bonus toward their 1994 cap, actually had a payroll of $46.9 million (highest in the league) last season.

In 1992, the last year before free agency was instituted, the clubs spent $779 million on player salaries. That figure jumped to $1.097 billion in 1993 (an uncapped year) and dipped only slightly to $1.001 billion in 1994.

With the cap increasing to $37.1 million in 1995, salaries are expected to rise again. Of the 217 unrestricted free agents who signed by May 1, 1995, average salaries jumped from $499,999 to $849,176. For the 137 players who changed clubs, the average salary jumped from $527,361 to $926,796.

The biggest deal was a five-year, $17.028 million contract Andre Rison signed with the Cleveland Browns that made him the highest-paid wide receiver in the game.

Among other big deals were the five-year, $15 million contracts that Michael Irvin and Tony Tolbert signed with Dallas; Alvin Harper's four-year, $10.6 million deal with Tampa Bay; Mark Stepnoski's four-year, $9.2 million contract with Houston; Eric Green's six-year, $12 million deal with Miami; and Ricky Watters' three-year, $6.9 million deal with Philadelphia.

Building from scratch

The Carolina Panthers and Jacksonville Jaguars took different approaches in stocking their rosters in the expansion draft.

The Panthers, choosing to go with younger, cheaper players, spent $9.35 million on the 35 players they selected February 15. The Jaguars spent $15.5 million on 31 players, gambling that highly paid underachievers like Desmond Howard and Derek Brown, both former first-round picks, can turn their careers around.

Rule changes

The NFL, which refused to adopt the two-point conversion when it merged with the AFL in 1970, finally installed it nearly a quarter-century later. The strategy proved successful roughly half the time (59 of 116 during regular-season play), and it didn't seem to matter, statistically at least, whether a run or a pass was tried. The league's 28 teams were successful on 37 of 74 passing attempts and 22 of 42 runs.

Another major change was the moving of kickoffs from the 35- to the 30-yard line. The extra 5 yards gave kick returners more room to run, enabling New Orleans' Tyrone Hughes (1,556) and Washington's Brian Mitchell (1,478) to break the record for most kickoff return yards in a season.

Record-setters

Speaking of records, Jerry Rice broke Jim Brown's all-time touchdown mark of 126 when he scored three touchdowns in the 49ers' first game of the season, a 44-14 rout of the Los Angeles Raiders. Rice finished the season with 139 touchdowns in 156 regular-season games.

Art Monk, who was released by the New York Jets at the end of the season, caught a pass in all 16 games to break Steve Largent's mark of catching at least one pass in 177 consecutive games. Monk finished the season at 180.

Minnesota's Cris Carter caught 122 passes to break Sterling Sharpe's year-old, single-season record for receptions (112). San Francisco's Steve Young finished with a passer rating of 112.8 to break Joe Montana's single-season record of 112.4 set in 1989.

Big bucks for Bucs

The only team sold during the year was the Tampa Bay Buccaneers, who were purchased from the estate of Hugh Culverhouse by the Florida-based Malcolm Glazer family. The Glazers paid $175 million, but that will increase to $192 million if Tampa Stadium is renovated and $210 million if the Glazers move the club. The Glazers are committed to keeping the Bucs in Tampa for only two years because of what is perceived as an inadequate stadium.

Confidentiality?

Owners and players agreed to a new drug program in 1994, the cornerstones of which are testing, discipline, treatment and confidentiality.

But the league is having problems with the last part. Not only did information leak out last year, but some of it was inaccurate.

Just days before the draft, the New York Times reported that University of Miami defensive tackle Warren Sapp had tested positive for marijuana and cocaine at the NFL scouting combine. It also reported that Miami running back James Stewart tested positive for marijuana. The NFL said Sapp didn't test positive for cocaine and that Stewart didn't test positive for any substance. Stewart is suing the Times.

Meanwhile, the league did a background check and informed clubs right before the draft that Sapp allegedly failed at least seven drug tests at Miami. The information spread like wildfire the night before the draft.

Sapp, who had been considered a top-five pick, fell to 12th because of the reports. Sapp acknowledged testing positive twice—including once at the combine. In the aftermath of the Sapp affair, league and union officials were looking at ways to keep test results confidential in the future.

Although no players were suspended for drug or alcohol abuse in 1994, one player, Frank Wycheck of the Washington Redskins, was suspended for four games after testing positive for steroid use. Wycheck said he got the steroids in his system accidentally while putting the compound DMSO on a thigh bruise.

Rough year for refs

The '94 season was not a good one for NFL officials, who blew so many calls in high-profile games that there were proposals to restore instant replay.

The most obvious gaffes came in the Miami-San Diego playoff game, when the officials awarded Natrone Means a touchdown even though he failed to break the plane of the end zone. Later, they took a touchdown away from Chargers receiver Shawn Jefferson even though he clearly had both feet in bounds after catching a pass in the end zone.

Tagliabue, sensing fans' displeasure, proposed using instant replay with mobile sideline monitors so the referee on the field could reverse calls.

But there were so many problems with instant replay a few years ago that it died an ignominious death. NFL officials will be under the microscope more than ever in 1995, and if they don't have a better year, there'll be more calls for the return of instant replay.

Tragedy

Mike Frier, a 25-year-old defensive lineman for the Seattle Seahawks, was paralyzed from the waist down in a car crash December 1. Frier was a passenger in a car driven by teammate Lamar Smith that crashed into a utility pole near Seahawks headquarters in Kirkland, Wash. Neither Smith, who was charged with vehicular assault, nor teammate Chris Warren, another passenger in the car, was seriously injured.

Frier believes he will one day walk again.

"I believe in miracles," he said. "If I walk again, that's a miracle. I'll prove to everybody who said I couldn't walk and I'll prove to myself that I can walk. It'll take some time, but I'll get there."

Hall of Fame

The Pro Football Hall of Fame's Class of 1995 included Seattle wide receiver Steve Largent, Tampa Bay defensive end Lee Roy Selmon, San Diego tight end Kellen Winslow, the late Henry Jordan, a defensive tackle on Green Bay's championship teams of the 1960s, and the late Jim Finks, a former NFL quarterback and also a longtime executive with Minnesota, Chicago and New Orleans.

Largent and Selmon became the first players from the Seahawks and Buccaneers—NFL expansion brethren in 1976—to make the Hall of Fame. Largent's election to the Hall came about 11 weeks after his election to the U.S. House of Representatives from Oklahoma's 1st Congressional district.

Retirements

Joe Montana, the best quarterback of his time and arguably the best of all-time, was the most prominent player to announce his retirement after the 1994 season.

A four-time Super Bowl winner with the 49ers, Montana made his announcement at a gala ceremony in San Francisco on April 18 even though he spent his final two years with Kansas City. He invited many of his former teammates and coaches to the ceremony but declined to invite Young, the man who replaced him with the 49ers.

Phil Simms, who sat out the 1994 season after being waived by the New York Giants, officially retired to take a job with NBC after considering an offer from the Cleveland Browns.

Among other players to announce their retirements were defensive linemen Mike Golic, Frank Warren and Bill Pickel.

HIGHLIGHTS

Hero of the week: Miami quarterback Dan Marino, who threw five touchdown passes in leading the Dolphins to a 39-35 come-from-behind victory over New England. Marino, who was playing in his first regular season game since tearing his right Achilles tendon in a game 11 months earlier, clinched the win with a 35-yard scoring pass to Irving Fryar on fourth and 5 with 3:19 left.

Goat of the week: Arizona quarterback Steve Beuerlein, who struggled in a 14-12 loss to the Los Angeles Rams. Beuerlein completed fewer than half his pass attempts, had two picked off and repeatedly underthrew and overthrew open receivers.

Sub(s) of the week: Although they weren't substitutes in the strictest sense, Erik Kramer, Lewis Tillman and Jeff Graham played pivotal roles in Chicago's 21-9 win over Tampa Bay. In making their first starts for the Bears at quarterback, running back and wide receiver, respectively, the trio led a new-look Chicago offense (seven new starters) that rolled up 270 total yards.

Comeback of the week: Detroit nipped Atlanta, 31-28, on Jason Hanson's 37-yard field goal 5:14 into overtime after tying the game on Scott Mitchell's 15-yard touchdown pass to Anthony Carter with 30 seconds left in regulation.

Blowout of the week: San Francisco destroyed the Los Angeles Raiders, 44-14, in a Monday night game that some observers had touted as an early-season Super Bowl preview. If so, the Raiders had their work cut out for them. Jerry Rice scored three times to become the NFL's all-time touchdown leader (127).

Nail-biter of the week: San Diego upended Denver, 37-34, behind three Stan Humphries touchdown passes and a bizarre fumble recovery by Junior Seau in the waning moments. The Broncos, who led 24-6 in the second quarter, seemed on the verge of retaking the lead after driving to the Chargers' 3-yard line with 35 seconds left. But the ball slipped out of quarterback John Elway's hand as he rolled to his right, and a surprised Seau sealed the win for San Diego by plucking the loose ball out of mid-air.

Hit of the week: By Rams linebacker Joe Kelly, who ripped the ball from the arms of Cardinals running back Larry Centers, forcing an airborne fumble that flew six yards downfield before being caught by Todd Lyght, who scampered 74 yards for the game's first touchdown.

Oddity of the week: Eric Metcalf and Thurman Thomas, two of the NFL's premier offensive weapons, combined for five rushing yards on 14 attempts.

Top rusher: Emmitt Smith carried 31 times for 171 yards and one touchdown in Dallas' 26-9 victory over Pittsburgh.

Top passer: Marino threw for 473 yards against the Patriots, the second-highest total of his career.

Top receiver: Fryar caught five of Marino's passes for 211 yards and three touchdowns.

Notes: Cleveland became the first NFL team since the 1977 Detroit Lions to return both a kickoff and a punt for touchdowns in the same game. Randy Baldwin (85-yard kickoff return) and Eric Metcalf (92-yard punt return) turned the trick in the Browns' 28-20 victory over Cincinnati. . . . The Colts set a team record for most points in a season-opener in a 45-21 win over Houston. Rookie Marshall Faulk, the second overall pick in the 1994 draft, rushed for 143 yards and three touchdowns in his NFL debut. All six Indianapolis touchdowns were scored by players not on the '93 roster. . . . Drew Bledsoe threw for a club-record 421 yards in the Patriots' loss to Miami. . . . Tom Flores and Marty Schottenheimer, former teammates in the old American Football League, each won the 100th game of his NFL coaching career in Week 1. . . . Washington's 28-7 loss to Seattle was the Redskins' worst in a home opener in 28 years. Their only score came on a 27-yard pass from John Friesz to Desmond Howard. It was the first NFL touchdown reception for Howard, who was playing in the 33rd game of his career. . . . Joe Montana improved his Superdome record to 10-0 and his record against the Saints to 15-2 in Kansas City's 30-17 win over New Orleans. . . . Offensive tackle Jackie Slater started his 19th season with the Rams, tying Jim Marshall's NFL record for most years of service with one team. Marshall, a defensive end, played with Minnesota from 1961-79. . . . There were more empty seats (36,039) than filled ones (32,969) at Anaheim Stadium for the Rams' home opener against Arizona. By contrast, a record crowd of 68,032 filled Candlestick Park for the 49ers' opener against the Raiders.

Quote of the week: First-year Cardinals Coach Buddy Ryan, on his team's inability to beat the Rams: "It looked to me like they were trying to die, but we couldn't kill them."

HIGHLIGHTS

Hero of the week: Washington's Brian Mitchell, who returned five kicks for 225 yards in the Redskins' 38-24 victory over New Orleans. Mitchell ran a punt back 74 yards for a touchdown in the first quarter and returned the second-half kickoff 86 yards to set up a touchdown.

Goat of the week: Cleveland quarterback Vinny Testaverde, who threw four interceptions in the Browns' 17-10 loss to Pittsburgh. Testaverde also overthrew Derrick Alexander on what would have been a game-tying touchdown in the final minute.

Sub of the week: Houston quarterback Bucky Richardson, who did an admirable job subbing for the injured Cody Carlson in the Oilers' 20-17 loss at Dallas. In his first NFL start, the former Texas A&M star threw for 242 yards and ran seven times for 37 yards, twice for first downs.

Comeback of the week: The New York Jets beat Denver, 25-22, on a 39-yard field goal by Nick Lowery at 3:57 of overtime. The Jets appeared to be in control when Boomer Esiason and Rob Moore connected for a 35-yard touchdown pass and a two-point conversion pass with 4:15 left in regulation, but the Broncos tied it when Jason Elam kicked a 29-yard field goal with 1:46 left.

Blowout of the week: Seattle forced four Raiders turnovers and scored points after each in a 38-9 rout of its AFC West rivals. Seattle's Rick Mirer threw three touchdown passes in a span of 10:03 after interceptions of Jeff Hostetler passes. Eight Seahawks caught at least one pass, and the Raiders failed to score an offensive touchdown.

Nail-biter of the week: Buffalo beat New England, 38-35, on Steve Christie's 32-yard field goal with 52 seconds left. Jim Kelly drove the Bills 42 yards on their final possession.

Hit of the week: By Kansas City linebacker Derrick Thomas, who sacked San Francisco quarterback Steve Young in the end zone for a safety to give the Chiefs momentum in a game they went on to win, 24-17. Thomas, who had two other sacks in the game, beat right tackle Harry Boatswain for the safety that cut the Niners' lead to 14-9.

Oddity of the week: In 1993, the Giants failed to rush for 100 yards in only two games—both against the Cardinals. In their first game of 1994 against the Cards, now coached by the defensive-minded Buddy Ryan, the Giants rushed for 118.

Top rusher: Natrone Means carried 21 times for 107 yards and one touchdown in San Diego's 27-10 win over Cincinnati.

Top passer: Drew Bledsoe completed 26 of 42 passes for 380 yards and three touchdowns in New England's loss to Buffalo.

Top receiver: Willie Anderson caught five passes for 154 yards and one touchdown in the Rams' 31-13 loss at Atlanta.

Notes: The Green Bay Packers ran the ball only seven times in their 24-14 loss to Miami. In the 75-year history of the NFL, only the Chicago Cardinals (six times in an October 29, 1933, game against the Boston Redskins) had fewer.... Nearly 400 media credentials were issued for the San Francisco-Kansas City game, which pitted former 49ers star Joe Montana against his old team and QB successor, Steve Young.... Detroit's Barry Sanders (16 yards vs. Minnesota) was held to his lowest rushing total since a 10-yard effort against New Orleans in 1990.... The Tampa Bay Buccaneers had their smallest crowd ever for a home opener (36,631).... Marshall Faulk (104 yards against the Bucs) became the first Colts rookie to rush for 100 yards in each of his first two games since Alan Ameche did it in 1955.... Miami remained unbeaten against Green Bay (8-0) in regular-season play. The Dolphins are the only team the Packers have never beaten. ... John Friesz's four touchdown passes for Washington in Week 2 were as many as any Redskins quarterback (Mark Rypien, Cary Conklin, Rich Gannon) threw in the entire 1993 season.... The Eagles snapped a seven-game losing streak against Chicago but still trailed, 25-5-1, in the all-time series (including playoffs).... Denver lost its fourth consecutive overtime game.

Quote of the week: Tampa Bay safety Thomas Everett, on Faulk: "Trying to catch him is like trying to catch a deer."

HIGHLIGHTS

Hero of the week: San Francisco quarterback Steve Young, who completed 31 of 39 passes for 355 yards and two touchdowns in the 49ers' 34-19 victory over the Rams. Young, who also ran for two touchdowns, completed his first 10 passes.

Goat of the week: Houston left tackle Bruce Matthews, who yielded four sacks to Bruce Smith in the Oilers' 15-7 loss to Buffalo. Matthews, a perennial Pro Bowl center/guard, was making his first start at left tackle in eight years.

Sub of the week: Giants running back Dave Meggett, who ran for two touchdowns and threw for another in New York's 31-23 victory over Washington. Meggett, subbing for the injured Rodney Hampton, took part in 31 of New York's 55 offensive plays.

Comeback of the week: Detroit beat Dallas, 20-17, on Jason Hanson's 44-yard field goal with 27 seconds left in overtime. The Cowboys, who lost for the first time in 10 games, trailed most of the contest before tying it on Emmitt Smith's 6-yard touchdown run with 4:09 left in regulation.

Blowout of the week: Minnesota rolled up 464 yards in total offense and another 112 on kick returns in its 42-14 rout of Chicago. The Vikings never punted and scored on their first four possessions of the second half. Minnesota's 42 points were the most it has scored in 66 games against the Bears.

Nail-biter of the week: New England beat Cincinnati, 31-28, behind Drew Bledsoe's club-record 365 yards passing.

Hit of the week: By Philadelphia defensive back Otis Smith, who stopped Green Bay's Edgar Bennett for no gain on a fourth-and-5 swing pass from the 6-yard line with 1:50 to play to seal the Eagles' 13-7 victory.

Oddity of the week: Meggett's touchdown pass was the third of his six-year NFL career. All have come against the Redskins.

Top rusher: Barry Sanders carried a career-high 40 times for 194 yards in Detroit's win over Dallas.

Top passer: John Friesz completed 32 of 50 passes for 381 yards and two touchdowns in the Redskins' loss to the Giants.

Top receiver: Henry Ellard caught 10 of Friesz's passes for 197 yards and one touchdown.

Notes: Denver's 48-16 loss to the Raiders was the Broncos' worst at home since 1968, which also was the last time they started a season 0-3. John Elway had an interception returned for a touchdown for the third consecutive week.... Stan Humphries and Tony Martin hooked up on a 99-yard touchdown pass against Seattle to tie an NFL record. There have been seven 99-yard passing plays in NFL history, the last coming in 1985 (Philadelphia's Ron Jaworski to Mike Quick).... Cleveland's 32-0 victory over Arizona handed Buddy Ryan his first shutout defeat as an NFL coach. The Browns preserved the shutout by stopping the Cardinals on the 2-yard line with one second left.... Steve Christie kicked five field goals for Buffalo's only points in its victory over Houston.... Week 3 marked the first of many Throwback Weekends during the 1994 season, when NFL teams wore replica uniforms from past eras. For example, the Bears wore uniforms from the 1925 season, the Steelers 1933, the Lions 1935, the Eagles 1948, the Colts 1958 and the Cowboys 1960.... The Seahawks were forced to move their game against San Diego to the University of Washington's Husky Stadium because the Kingdome was closed for ceiling and roof repairs. The game attracted a crowd of 65,536, the largest in team history.... Ellard became the 10th receiver in NFL history to eclipse the 10,000-yard mark. Buffalo's Andre Reed became the 13th player with 600 receptions.... Kansas City was 3-0 for the first time since 1966.... Atlanta's Jeff George had a string of 279 passes without an interception (third-longest in NFL history) snapped by Chiefs cornerback Dale Carter.... Bledsoe set a Patriots record with his fourth consecutive 300-yard passing game.... Dallas' Leon Lett blocked two field-goal attempts (57 and 51 yards) against the Lions.

Quote of the week: Martin, on his 99-yard touchdown reception: "I didn't realize I was tying a record. I was just trying to get into the end zone. The more I ran, the further away it seemed to be."

HIGHLIGHTS

Hero of the week: Minnesota quarterback Warren Moon, who completed 26 of 37 passes for 326 yards and three touchdowns in the Vikings' 38-35 victory over Miami. Nine players caught passes from Moon, who was not intercepted.

Goat of the week: Denver quarterback John Elway, whose late-game miscue cost the Broncos a possible victory for the second time in four weeks. Elway, who fumbled when the ball slipped out of his hand while he was attempting to pass in the final minute of a Week 1 loss to San Diego, this time wildly overthrew Cedric Tillman in the Buffalo end zone on fourth down with 21 seconds left in a game the Broncos lost, 27-20.

Sub of the week: Seattle defensive back Orlando Watters, an undrafted rookie free agent making his first NFL start in place of injured Patrick Hunter, picked off a Neil O'Donnell pass with 4:15 left and returned it 35 yards for a touchdown in the Seahawks' 30-13 victory over Pittsburgh.

Comeback of the week: San Diego beat the Los Angeles Raiders, 26-24, on John Carney's 33-yard field goal with two seconds left. Lionel Washington had given the Raiders a 24-23 lead when he returned an interception of a Stan Humphries pass 31 yards for a touchdown with 7:01 left, but Humphries proceeded to guide the Chargers 65 yards in 14 plays to set up Carney's game-winner.

Blowout of the week: Green Bay beat Tampa Bay, 30-3, in a Battle of the Bays that became a rout. The Packers, with Brett Favre throwing three touchdown passes, rolled up 401 total yards, didn't commit a turnover and didn't allow a sack.

Nail-biter of the week: Minnesota's victory over Miami came after the Vikings blew a 28-0 second-quarter lead and had to rally to win. The Dolphins scored 28 consecutive points to tie it before the Vikes scored 10 points midway through the fourth quarter to retake the lead.

Hit of the week: By Seattle free safety Eugene Robinson, who stopped Barry Foster on fourth-and-goal at the 1-yard line after the Steelers, trailing 20-6, took the second-half kickoff, drove 68 yards in 13 plays and were on the verge of cutting the Seahawks' lead.

Oddity of the week: Kansas City's 16-0 loss at Arrowhead Stadium to the Rams was the Chiefs' first shutout loss at home since October 20, 1985, when they lost to the Rams, 16-0.

Top rusher: Jerome Bettis carried 35 times for 132 yards in the Rams' victory over Kansas City.

Top passer: Dan Marino completed 29 of 54 passes for 431 yards and three touchdowns in Miami's loss to Minnesota.

Top receiver: Henry Ellard caught six passes for 162 yards and one touchdown in Washington's 27-20 loss to Atlanta.

Notes: Joe Montana suffered the first shutout loss of his NFL career in the Chiefs' loss to the Rams. It was Montana's 204th NFL game, including playoffs.... The Falcons won at Washington's RFK Stadium for the first time in 11 tries.... Chris Jacke kicked three field goals against Tampa Bay to surpass Chester Marcol (122-120) as the Packers' all-time field-goal leader.... For the first time since 1983, the Vikings had a quarterback throw for 300 yards (Warren Moon), a running back run for 100 yards (Terry Allen) and a receiver catch passes for 100 yards (Jake Reed) in the same game.... Johnny Johnson had a 90-yard non-touchdown run in the New York Jets' loss to Chicago. Jeremy Lincoln caught Johnson at the Bears' 7-yard line, and the Jets failed to score.... Jim Harbaugh had a 41-yard run against the Browns, the longest by a Colts quarterback since 1953.... Chargers center Courtney Hall (biceps injury) had an 83-game starting streak end against the Raiders.... Houston, which was 0-3 before the game, beat Cincinnati for the 10th consecutive time at the Astrodome.

Quote of the week: Oilers defensive end Ray Childress, on the victory over the winless Bengals: "If we'd have lost this game, we couldn't have gone to our cars until it was dark."

HIGHLIGHTS

Hero of the week: Philadelphia running back Charlie Garner, who rushed for 111 yards on 16 carries and scored two touchdowns in the Eagles' 40-8 rout of San Francisco. Garner, a rookie who had been sidelined with a fractured rib, was making his first NFL start.

Goat of the week: New York Giants wide receiver Chris Calloway, who was flagged for unsportsmanlike conduct after catching a 42-yard pass to the Saints' 3 with 11 minutes left and the Giants trailing 27-13. Calloway spiked the ball near fallen defensive back Carl Lee, whom he beat on the play, and New York eventually was forced to punt. The Giants went on to lose, 27-22.

Sub of the week: Atlanta quarterback Bobby Hebert, who entered after Jeff George sustained a concussion late in the third quarter, completed seven of nine passes for 79 yards and ran once for eight yards in an 89-yard drive that ended in his throwing for the game-winning touchdown, a 13-yard pass to Ricky Sanders with 3:14 left.

Comeback of the week: Chicago scored 10 points in the fourth quarter to beat Buffalo, 20-13. Steve Walsh completed 19 of 28 passes and scored the game-winning touchdown on a one-yard run with 11:25 left.

Blowout of the week: Dallas scored on five of its first six possessions en route to a 34-7 rout of Washington. It hardly mattered that Emmitt Smith, whose two touchdown runs helped the Cowboys to a commanding 31-0 halftime lead, sat out the second half because of a sore hamstring. The Redskins, in rookie quarterback Heath Shuler's first NFL start, mustered only 110 total yards, 14 in the first half.

Nail-biter of the week: Thanks to Packers mistakes in the final minutes, New England nipped visiting Green Bay, 17-16, on Matt Bahr's 33-yard field goal with four seconds left. After Reggie Cobb scored on a one-yard run with 1:14 to play, Green Bay botched the extra point when holder Craig Hentrich couldn't handle a low snap from Frank Winters, preventing Chris Jacke from getting a kick away. Then, on the ensuing kickoff, Jacke booted the ball out of bounds, giving the Patriots possession on their 40 with 1:04 left. Drew Bledsoe drove the Patriots 45 yards in 11 plays to set up Bahr's winning kick.

Hit of the week: By Indianapolis nose tackle Tony Siragusa, who sacked Seattle quarterback Rick Mirer on a fourth-down play after the Seahawks, trailing by two points with five minutes left, had driven to the Colts' 33.

Oddity of the week: For the first time in their 18-year history, the Tampa Bay Buccaneers returned a punt or a kickoff for a touchdown. Vernon Turner (80 yards against Detroit) did the honors on the 705th punt return in Bucs' history and the 1,320th punt by a Tampa Bay opponent.

Top rusher: Barry Sanders rushed for 166 yards on 20 carries in Detroit's 24-14 loss to Tampa Bay.

Top passer: Warren Moon completed 29 of 47 passes for 355 yards and one touchdown in Minnesota's 17-7 loss to Arizona.

Top receiver: Cris Carter caught 14 of Moon's passes for 167 yards.

Notes: San Francisco's 40-8 loss to Philadelphia was its worst in George Seifert's six years as coach and the 49ers' worst since a 49-3 shellacking by the Giants in an NFC playoff game on January 4, 1987. Quarterback Steve Young, taking a beating behind a patchwork offensive line missing three starters, was benched with the 49ers trailing 33-8 in the third period. . . . Indianapolis defensive tackle Steve Emtman played in his first game since tearing two ligaments and a tendon in his right knee in a game against Dallas on October 10, 1993. Emtman was in for 20 plays against Seattle and dumped running back Chris Warren for a 5-yard loss on his first play. . . . Sterling Sharpe caught nine passes against New England to surpass James Lofton (533-530) as the Packers' all-time leading receiver. . . . Cleveland was 4-1 for the first time since 1979, but it is worth noting that the Browns' four victims (the Bengals, Cardinals, Colts and Jets) entered Week 5 with a cumulative record of 3-12. . . . The Miami-Cincinnati game marked the first time in major pro sports history that a father and son coached against each another. Don Shula's Dolphins beat Dave Shula's Bengals, 23-7, and Cincinnati didn't help the younger Shula's cause by committing turnovers on all five of its second-half possessions. . . . Detroit's Jason Hanson had been successful on 44 consecutive field-goal attempts inside 42 yards before missing a 26-yarder against Tampa Bay.

Quote of the week: Rams Coach Chuck Knox, on seldom-used quarterback Tommy Maddox, whom Knox was forced to play after injuries sidelined Chris Miller and Chris Chandler: "He played about like you would think somebody would play who hasn't played."

HIGHLIGHTS

Hero of the week: Los Angeles Raiders cornerback Terry McDaniel, who had three interceptions in a 21-17 victory over New England. McDaniel returned one interception 14 yards for a touchdown and set up the game-winning touchdown with another. He also had two tackles and three assists.

Goat of the week: New York Giants quarterback Dave Brown, who had an interception returned for a touchdown for the second straight game. This time, Brown threw an ill-advised pass on the fourth play of the third quarter that Anthony Parker returned 44 yards for a Minnesota touchdown. The game was tied at the time of the interception, and the Vikings went on to win 27-10.

Sub of the week: San Francisco fullback William Floyd, a rookie from Florida State, scored two touchdowns and caught five passes in the 49ers' 27-21 victory over Detroit. Floyd, who replaced Marc Logan in the starting lineup, was making his first NFL start.

Comeback of the week: Green Bay scored 21 consecutive points in the second half to upend the Los Angeles Rams, 24-17. Robert Brooks' 85-yard punt return for a touchdown tied it midway through the third quarter, and the Packers' defense held the Rams without a first down in the time it took Green Bay to score its three touchdowns.

Blowout of the week: Dallas crushed Arizona, 38-3, in the most lopsided game between the teams since 1973. The Cowboys' top-rated defense intercepted three Jay Schroeder passes in the first half—all resulting in touchdowns—and the Cardinals didn't take a snap in Dallas territory until 4:15 remained in the third quarter.

Nail-biter of the week: Rookie cornerback Lenny McGill sealed the Packers' victory over the Rams by intercepting a Chris Miller pass in the end zone with a minute left.

Hit of the week: By Buffalo's Mark Pike, who knocked the ball loose from Miami punt returner O.J. McDuffie late in the third period of a game the Bills led, 7-3. Bucky Brooks recovered for Buffalo on Miami's 26, and Thurman Thomas scored the Bills' second touchdown on the next play.

Oddity of the week: Buffalo's victory over Miami marked the first time the home team won in the past seven meetings between the two teams.

Top rusher: Natrone Means carried 19 times for a career-high 125 yards and one touchdown in San Diego's 20-6 victory over Kansas City.

Top passer: Drew Bledsoe completed 23 of 55 passes for 321 yards and two touchdowns in New England's loss to the Raiders.

Top receiver: Michael Irvin caught eight passes for 136 yards and one touchdown in Dallas' rout of Arizona.

Notes: After six weeks, San Diego was the league's only unbeaten team and Cincinnati its only winless one. . . . The Chargers snapped an eight-game regular-season losing streak against Kansas City. . . . Because of a college game played in a downpour at Soldier Field the night before, the field conditions for the Saints-Bears game were awful. Workers spread sand on the muddy field to enhance the players' traction, but it probably made things worse. . . . Denver won for the first time in seven games. . . . Dan Marino's 46.5 completion percentage against Buffalo (20 of 43) was his lowest in five years. . . . The Jets beat the Colts at home for the first time since 1988. . . . Cardinals Coach Buddy Ryan had won seven consecutive games against Dallas before the Cowboys' romp in Week 6. . . . The Raiders and Patriots combined to turn the ball over five times on six consecutive possessions. . . . Joe Montana matched his career high with 37 completions in Kansas City's loss at San Diego. His 55 attempts were the third-highest total of his career. Despite those numbers, the Chiefs went three-plays-and-punt on five of their 11 possessions. . . . Bears wide receiver Jeff Graham caught the second touchdown pass of his NFL career against New Orleans. His previous touchdown catch came 103 receptions earlier, in 1992 when he was with the Steelers. . . . The New York Giants retired former linebacking great Lawrence Taylor's No. 56 at halftime of their Monday night game against Minnesota. Taylor, who was voted to a record 10 consecutive Pro Bowls from his rookie season of 1981 through 1990, became the eighth Giant to have his number retired.

Quote of the week: Dallas Coach Barry Switzer, after his team's easy win over Arizona: "Sometimes you eat the bear and sometimes the bear eats you. Today, we ate the bear."

HIGHLIGHTS

Hero of the week: Miami running back Bernie Parmalee, who rushed 30 times for 150 yards in the Dolphins' 20-17 overtime victory against the Raiders. Parmalee carried five times for 45 yards in overtime to set up Pete Stoyanovich's game-winning field goal, and he also made three tackles—two on special teams and one after an interception.

Goat of the week: Philadelphia quarterback Randall Cunningham, who was sacked four times and threw four interceptions in the Eagles' 24-13 loss to Dallas. Kenny Gant's interception of Cunningham set up the Cowboys' second touchdown, and Darren Woodson's 26-yard interception return set up Dallas' third touchdown.

Sub of the week: Pittsburgh running back Bam Morris, a rookie from Texas Tech, carried 21 times for 82 yards in the Steelers' 14-10 victory over Cincinnati. Morris replaced starter Barry Foster after Foster sprained his right knee on the second play of the game.

Comeback of the week: Arizona nipped Washington, 19-16, on Todd Peterson's 29-yard field goal at 10:04 of overtime. The Cardinals tied it at 16 on Steve Beuerlein's 5-yard touchdown pass to Ricky Proehl with 19 seconds left. Peterson's winning kick came one play after Terry Hoage returned an interception 23 yards to the Redskins' 12.

Blowout of the week: San Francisco had little trouble disposing of Atlanta, 42-3. The 49ers forced six turnovers (two of which they returned for touchdowns) and quarterback Steve Young completed all but one of his 16 pass attempts in 2½ quarters of play. Young threw four touchdown passes and no interceptions.

Nail-biter of the week: Kansas City edged Denver, 31-28, on Joe Montana's 5-yard touchdown pass to Willie Davis with eight seconds left. Montana completed seven of eight passes on the game-winning drive after John Elway gave the Broncos a 28-24 lead on a 4-yard scoring run with 1:29 left.

Hit of the week: By Parmalee, whose jarring tackle of Rocket Ismail in the first half knocked the Raiders' big-play kick returner out of the game.

Oddity of the week: The Raiders scored a defensive touchdown for the fifth consecutive game.

Top rusher: Parmalee was awarded two game balls for his performance against the Raiders, a first for a player coached by Don Shula.

Top passer: Montana was 34 of 54 for 393 yards and three touchdowns against Denver.

Top receiver: Sean Dawkins caught six passes for 105 yards in Indianapolis' 27-17 victory over Buffalo.

Notes: A fight broke out between 49ers cornerback Deion Sanders and Falcons wide receiver Andre Rison in the San Francisco-Atlanta game. Sanders, a three-time Pro Bowler with the Falcons from 1989-93, was making his first appearance in Atlanta since signing a free-agent contract with San Francisco in September.... Chargers running back Natrone Means, who ran for 120 yards and three touchdowns against the Saints, had two other touchdowns called back because of penalties.... Kansas City's first touchdown against Denver ended a touchdown drought of 149:20 that spanned parts of 11 quarters over 29 days. The Chiefs' victory was their first in Denver since 1982.... Dallas rolled up 137 yards of offense in the second quarter against Philadelphia after getting zero yards in the first quarter.... How bad are the Bengals? The Steelers beat them for the seventh consecutive time despite allowing eight sacks, committing nine penalties and giving up a touchdown on a fake field goal.... The Colts' victory was their first at Buffalo in a non-strike game since 1980. In defeat, Jim Kelly threw for 286 yards to pass Joe Ferguson (27,820-27,590) as the Bills' all-time passing leader.... HIGHLIGHTS

Hero of the week: Tyrone Hughes of the New Orleans Saints, who was spectacular in his team's 37-34 victory over the Los Angeles Rams. He returned 10 kicks for an NFL-record 347 yards, and his 304 yards on kickoff returns set another league mark. Hughes tied a record by returning two kickoffs for touchdowns in one game, and he also intercepted a pass in his first career start at cornerback.

Goat(s) of the week: Houston safeties Marcus Robertson and Cris Dishman, who were burned for three catches of more than 50 yards by Philadelphia's Fred Barnett in the Monday night game. The Eagles won, 21-6, and Barnett finished with five catches for 187 yards and one touchdown.

Sub of the week: Dallas quarterback Rodney Peete, who threw two touchdown passes in the Cowboys' 28-21 victory over Arizona. Peete, who took over after Troy Aikman sustained a concussion on Dallas' first series of the game, completed 6-of-7 passes for 145 yards in the fourth quarter.

Comeback of the week: Minnesota beat Green Bay, 13-10, on Fuad Reveiz's 27-yard field goal at 4:26 of overtime. Reveiz sent the game into overtime on a 29-yard field goal with 17 seconds left after the Vikings had driven 55 yards in 14 plays; Warren Moon was 7-of-10 passing on the drive.

Blowout of the week: San Francisco whipped Tampa Bay, 41-16, behind Ricky Watters' two touchdowns and 103 yards rushing. The game marked the first NFL start for Buccaneers quarterback Trent Dilfer, who completed just seven of 23 passes for 45 yards before being replaced by Craig Erickson after the Bucs fell behind, 34-0.

Nail-biter of the week: Detroit beat Chicago, 21-16, in a game that wasn't decided until Lions cornerback Robert Massey broke up an Erik Kramer pass intended for Nate Lewis on fourth and 5 at Detroit's 20 with 41 seconds left.

Hit of the week: By Cardinals linebacker Wilber Marshall, whose hit to Aikman's chin forced the quarterback to leave the game on the Cowboys' first possession. The game was scoreless at the time, but Peete came in to guide Dallas to victory.

Oddity of the week: On the same day Hughes set a record for kickoff-return yardage in one game, Detroit's Mel Gray became the NFL's career leader in that department. Gray's 174 kickoff-return yards against Chicago (including a 102-yard touchdown) moved him past Ron Smith (7,092-6,922) atop the all-time list.

Top rusher: Barry Sanders carried 23 times for 167 yards in Detroit's victory over Chicago.

Top passer: Randall Cunningham completed 13 of 24 passes for 310 yards and two touchdowns in Philadelphia's victory over Houston.

Top receiver: The Eagles' Barnett caught five passes for 187 yards and one touchdown.

Notes: Cleveland scored touchdowns on consecutive Cincinnati punts in its 37-13 victory. Travis Hill recovered a blocked punt in the end zone for one touchdown, and Eric Metcalf returned Lee Johnson's next punt 73 yards for another score. The loss was the Bengals' 20th in 22 AFC Central Division games since 1991. . . . Tampa Bay's loss at San Francisco dropped the Bucs' record in California since 1980 to 0-22. . . . The Saints and Rams combined for 797 all-purpose return yards (kickoffs, punts, fumbles and interceptions). Robert Bailey's 103-yard punt return for the Rams was the longest in NFL history. It was made possible when players on both teams thought the ball, punted into the end zone, was dead. It wasn't, and Bailey picked it up and took off. . . . Dennis Green won his 25th game faster than any coach in Vikings history. He did it in 39 games, five fewer than Bud Grant. . . . Gus Frerotte's 226 yards passing against Indianapolis were the most ever by a Redskins quarterback in his NFL debut, topping a 154-yard performance by Al Dorow in 1954. Frerotte became the second rookie to start at quarterback for Washington in 1994 (after Heath Shuler). Until '94, the Redskins had gone 33 years—since Norm Snead in 1961—without starting a rookie quarterback. . . . The Cowboys beat the Cards for the second time in three weeks and the ninth consecutive time overall. . . . Gale Gilbert's two completions for San Diego against Denver were his first in the NFL since 1990, when he played for Buffalo. . . . Kansas City beat Seattle for the seventh consecutive time. . . . Cincinnati's Dan Wilkinson, the first overall pick in the 1994 draft, recorded his first NFL sack. . . . San Diego's John Carney kicked five field goals for the second consecutive week and extended his string of successful field goals to 16.

Quote of the week: San Francisco center Bart Oates, on beating hapless Tampa Bay: "I think we have to look at this realistically, look at the level of competition. Let's look at it for what it's worth. It's a victory, but let's not get grandiose about it."

HIGHLIGHTS

Hero of the week: Detroit's Barry Sanders, who rushed for 146 yards on 26 attempts in the Lions' 28-25 overtime victory against the New York Giants. Sanders caught only two passes, but he eluded two defenders to gain a first down on one of them to keep the Lions' game-winning drive alive.

Goat of the week: Pittsburgh rookie Charles Johnson, who fumbled the overtime kickoff to set up the game-winning points in the Steelers' 20-17 loss to Arizona. David Merritt recovered the ball at Pittsburgh's 32, and Greg Davis kicked a game-winning 51-yard field goal four plays later.

Sub of the week: San Diego quarterback Gale Gilbert, subbing for injured Stan Humphries, completed 11 of 14 passes for 125 yards and two touchdowns in a 35-15 victory over Seattle. The touchdown passes were the first in four seasons for Gilbert, a perennial clipboard holder who did not even get into a game in 1991 or '92.

Comeback of the week: Philadelphia edged Washington, 31-29, on Eddie Murray's 30-yard field goal with 19 seconds left. Randall Cunningham drove the Eagles 63 yards in 12 plays to set Murray's game-winner after Chip Lohmiller's 40-yard field goal with 3:58 left gave the Redskins a 29-28 lead.

Blowout of the week: Buffalo crushed Kansas City, 44-10, behind Jim Kelly's four touchdown passes and a defense that forced five turnovers. The Bills scored 17 points in 3:05 of the second quarter to take command en route to handing the Chiefs their worst defeat in a non-strike game since 1984.

Nail-biter of the week: The Los Angeles Raiders held on to beat Houston, 17-14, when a 52-yard field goal attempt by the Oilers' Al Del Greco hit the crossbar and bounced away as time expired. The Oilers had taken a 14-10 lead on Billy Joe Tolliver's 7-yard pass to Haywood Jeffires with 3:19 left. Jeff Hostetler completed four of five passes on the Raiders' ensuing 67-yard drive, which ended on his 11-yard touchdown pass to Tim Brown with 1:50 left.

Hit of the week: By Colts cornerback Eugene Daniel, who tackled Jets receiver Rob Moore just short of a first down after New York, trailing by three, had driven to the Colts' 38 in the final minute.

Oddity of the week: The Colts had no penalties in a game for the first time since 1976. In the '76 game, Ted Marchibroda was the Colts' coach and the opponent was the Jets.

Top rusher: Sanders' 146-yard effort against the Giants boosted him over the 1,000-yard mark for the sixth consecutive year.

Top passer: John Elway completed 30 of 41 passes for 349 yards and two touchdowns in Denver's 26-14 victory over Cleveland.

Top receiver: Darnay Scott caught four passes for 155 yards and two touchdowns in Cincinnati's 23-20 loss to Dallas.

Notes: Dallas tied a club record with its seventh consecutive road victory, but it didn't come easy. Cincinnati quarterback Jeff Blake, in his first NFL start, threw for 247 yards and two touchdowns, 67- and 55-yarders to Scott that stunned the Cowboys and gave the Bengals a short-lived 14-0 lead. . . . Detroit became the first NFL team to win three overtime games in one year. . . . Minnesota cornerback Anthony Parker scored a touchdown for the third consecutive game, the first Vikings defensive player to perform the feat. . . . Sanders became the second running back to rush for 1,000 yards in each of his first six seasons. Eric Dickerson had a seven-year streak from 1983-89. . . . Bernie Parmalee's 123 yards rushing against New England gave him 273 in his last two games, the best two-game total in Miami history. Mercury Morris had 258 yards in back-to-back games in 1973. . . . The Redskins used a different starting quarterback against the Eagles for the fifth consecutive game. Mark Rypien, Cary Conklin, Rich Gannon, Heath Shuler and Gus Frerotte made the starts, and Washington lost each time. . . . Natrone Means became the first Charger to rush for 100 yards in four consecutive games. . . . Tampa Bay lost its 200th regular-season game (in 284 contests) since entering the league in 1976.... Hall of Famers Dick Butkus (51) and Gale Sayers (40) had their uniform numbers retired at halftime of the Bears-Packers game on Monday night, but lousy weather resulted in a crowd of 47,381 at Soldier Field. A total of 66,941 tickets were sold.

Quote of the week: Buffalo's Bruce Smith, on the Bills-Chiefs matchup: "Before the game, in the locker room, I told the guys, 'This game is rated R—adult language and a lot of violence.'"

HIGHLIGHTS

Hero of the week: Minnesota quarterback Warren Moon, who threw for 420 yards and three touchdowns, including an 11-yard game-winner to Qadry Ismail with five seconds left, as the Vikings beat New Orleans, 21-20.

Goat of the week: Houston running back Gary Brown, whose fumble at the Oilers' 22 in overtime enabled the Steelers to win, 12-9. After Pittsburgh recovered the fumble and ran one play, Gary Anderson kicked the game-winning field goal with 3:36 left. Brown's fumble was the only turnover of the game.

Sub of the week: Detroit quarterback Dave Krieg, who came on to replace injured Scott Mitchell in the second quarter of a loss to Green Bay. Krieg threw for 275 yards and three touchdowns, but it wasn't enough as Detroit couldn't overcome a 24-point deficit, losing 38-30. The Lions' last chance ended when a Krieg pass was knocked down in the end zone with 42 seconds left.

Comeback of the week: Miami beat Indianapolis, 22-21, on a 34-yard field goal by Pete Stoyanovich with four seconds left. Miami, behind the passing of Dan Marino, scored 10 points in the final four minutes. It was the 28th fourth-quarter comeback of Marino's career.

Blowout of the week: Dallas rolled up 450 yards and held the New York Giants to 187 in winning 38-10. Dallas led 35-3 after three quarters.

Nail-biter of the week: Miami trailed 21-12 after Colts defensive back Ray Buchanan returned a Marino interception 28 yards for a touchdown with 7:32 left. But Marino—who moved into second place on the NFL's career passing list—connected with O.J. McDuffie on a 28-yard touchdown pass with 3:52 left to cap a 10-play, 83-yard drive. After the Colts ran three plays and punted, Miami took over on its 42 with 2:06 left. Marino then completed five consecutive passes to put the Dolphins on the Colts' 22. After Irving Spikes ran for five yards, Stoyanovich kicked the game-winning field goal.

Hit of the week: By Green Bay defensive lineman Reggie White, who crunched Mitchell midway through the second quarter. Mitchell, whose right hand was broken on the tackle, stayed in for one more play, then missed the rest of the season.

Oddity of the week: Four teams, including two winners, didn't score a touchdown. Pittsburgh kicked four field goals to beat Houston, 12-9, in a game in which all the points were scored by kickers. Cincinnati got six field goals and a safety to down Seattle, 20-17, for its first victory of the season. And Atlanta edged San Diego, 10-9; all of the Chargers' points came on field goals. Oddly enough, Atlanta drove 91 yards for a touchdown on its first possession of the game.

Top rusher: Dallas' Emmitt Smith rushed for 163 yards and two touchdowns on a team-record 35 carries in the rout of the Giants.

Top passer: Moon completed 33 of a personal-high 57 passes for 420 yards and three touchdowns in the victory. Moon became the seventh NFL passer to exceed 36,000 career yards.

Top receiver: Philadelphia's Fred Barnett had a career-high 11 receptions for 173 yards and two touchdowns in a 17-7 victory over Arizona.

Notes: San Francisco Coach George Seifert posted his 75th career victory. He reached the milestone faster (98 games) than any coach in NFL history .... Cincinnati's first victory came in the first game of the season in Seattle's Kingdome. The stadium had been closed since July 19 after roof tiles fell before a Mariners-Orioles baseball game. The victory also snapped the Bengals' road losing streak at 15.... The Jets' Boomer Esiason threw the 200th touchdown pass of his career (a four-yarder to Rob Moore in the third quarter) in a 22-17 victory over Buffalo.... The Eagles downed Arizona in Cardinals Coach Buddy Ryan's first game in Philadelphia since he was fired as Eagles coach after the 1990 season.... The Dolphins'

Don Shula coached in his 500th career game. . . . Four players—two from each team—were ejected for fighting in two separate incidents in the Bears-Bucs game. . . . Indianapolis had the ball for 11:14 of the first quarter against Miami. The Colts then had the ball for 11:15 total for the rest of the game. . . . San Francisco got touchdowns from its offense, defense and special teams in hammering Washington.

Quote of the week: Cincinnati quarterback Jeff Blake, on his team's first victory, which came in his second pro start: "I've always known what I can do. It just took someone to believe in me. I know what God has given me. This is my calling."

HIGHLIGHTS

Hero of the week: New England quarterback Drew Bledsoe, who set NFL records for attempts and completions by going 45 of 70 for 426 yards and three touchdowns as the Patriots rallied past the Vikings in overtime, 26-20.

Goat of the week: Houston cornerback Cris Dishman, who was torched by Cincinnati wide receiver Carl Pickens. Pickens caught 11 passes for 188 yards and three touchdowns as the Bengals slipped past the Oilers, 34-31. Pickens caught the game-tying touchdown pass with 2:34 left, then caught a 50-yard pass to set up the Bengals' Doug Pelfrey for the game-winning field goal in the final seconds. Dishman also was called for a 26-yard pass interference penalty, which helped the Bengals on their first scoring drive.

Sub of the week: Green Bay wide receiver Anthony Morgan, who came on when Sterling Sharpe injured his hamstring in the third quarter against the Jets. Morgan caught three passes for 46 yards, including a 17-yard touchdown catch with 4:16 left in the third quarter to put the Packers ahead for good, 14-10, in a game they won 17-10.

Comeback of the week: New England rallied from a 20-3 halftime deficit to upend Minnesota. The Vikings scored on three of their first four possessions en route to the halftime lead. But Bledsoe threw for 354 yards in the second half against the league's fourth-ranked defense to rally the Patriots. Matt Bahr sent the game into overtime with a 23-yard field goal with 14 seconds left. Bledsoe hit fullback Kevin Turner with a 14-yard pass to win it with 4:10 left in overtime. The Patriots passed on 59 of their final 66 plays.

Blowout of the week: Cleveland started its first drive on Philadelphia's 18 and scored four plays later, setting the tone in its 26-7 victory over the Eagles. Philadelphia was 3 of 14 on third-down conversions and punted seven times.

Nail-biter of the week: Morten Andersen kicked a 39-yard field goal with eight seconds left as New Orleans downed Atlanta, 33-32. It was his fourth game-winning kick against the Falcons in the teams' past five meetings. Atlanta's Norm Johnson kicked a 30-yard field goal—his sixth of the game—to give Atlanta a 32-30 lead with 1:44 left. Jim Everett then drove the Saints 43 yards to Andersen's game-winning kick.

Hit of the week: By Kansas City special teams player Ron Dickerson, who ran into San Diego's John Kidd and was called for roughing the punter. The 15-yard penalty moved the ball to San Diego's 48. On the first play after the penalty, Chargers quarterback Stan Humphries hit Shawn Jefferson on a 52-yard touchdown pass to cut the Chiefs' lead to 13-7 with 30 seconds left in the third quarter. The Chargers won 14-13, holding Kansas City scoreless in the second half.

Oddity of the week: Broncos running back Leonard Russell went to a weird place for his honeymoon—Denver's Mile High Stadium. Russell got married on Saturday; on Sunday, he rushed for 109 yards and a touchdown to boost the Broncos past Seattle, 17-10.

Top rusher: Detroit's Barry Sanders rushed for 237 yards on 26 carries as the Lions beat the Bucs, 14-9. Sanders had 200 yards in the second half.

Top passer: New England's Bledsoe was 45 of 70 for 426 yards and three touchdowns in a victory.

Top receiver: Cincinnati's Pickens had 11 catches for 188 yards and three touchdowns in a victory.

Notes: Miami's Dan Marino set an NFL record for most seasons (11) with at least 20 touchdown passes. . . . The Rams rushed for just 22 yards against the Raiders, the second-lowest total in team history. . . . Police broke up 26 fights and arrested 25 people in the stands at the Los Angeles Coliseum during the Rams-Raiders game. . . . The Broncos' victory over Seattle was their sixth in a row over the Seahawks in Denver. . . . Eagles quarterback Randall Cunningham's 20-game home winning streak was snapped in the loss to the Browns. . . . San Diego's victory gave the Chargers a season sweep of the Chiefs; before the season, the Chargers had lost eight of the past nine regular-season games against Kansas City. '. . . The Steelers had seven sacks in their victory over Buffalo. Both of the Steelers' touchdowns were scored by the defense.

Quote of the week: Detroit Coach Wayne Fontes, on Sanders: "God ain't made a better back in this lifetime. Maybe one will come along someday. But it hasn't happened yet."

HIGHLIGHTS

Hero of the week: New York Jets cornerback Marcus Turner, who tied a team record with three interceptions in a 31-21 upset of Minnesota. Turner, a career backup (two starts in six NFL seasons) who was playing in the Jets' nickel package, returned one of the interceptions 90 yards for a touchdown. Turner's other interceptions also came deep in Jets territory—one on the 17, the other in the end zone.

Goat of the week: Minnesota quarterback Warren Moon, who threw four interceptions in a loss to the Jets. Moon was 33 of 50 for 400 yards, but each of the interceptions came deep in Jets territory (on the 17, on the 10, on the 9 and in the end zone).

Sub of the week: Pittsburgh quarterback Mike Tomczak, who started in place of injured Neil O'Donnell. Tomczak was 26 of 42 for 343 yards in leading the Steelers past the Dolphins, 16-13, in overtime. Tomczak hit two key passes—a 23-yarder to fullback John L. Williams and a 13-yarder to tight end Eric Green—on a drive that ended with Gary Anderson kicking the game-winning field goal with 4:41 left.

Comeback of the week: Denver overcame a 28-17 fourth-quarter deficit to down Atlanta 32-28. The Falcons took the 11-point lead on a 49-yard pass from Jeff George to Terance Mathis with 14:11 left. But John Elway—who threw for 382 yards—then drove Denver 72 yards for a touchdown, passing 32 yards to Anthony Miller for a score and then hitting Miller on a two-point conversion pass to make it 28-25 with 10:19 remaining. The Broncos got another opportunity with six minutes left. Elway moved the team 57 yards for the clinching score. He completed a 13-yard pass to running back Reggie Rivers on third-and-13. On the next play, Elway scrambled 11 yards to the Falcons' 4. He then scored on a quarterback draw. It was the 34th fourth-quarter comeback of Elway's career.

Blowout of the week: Dallas built a 17-0 first-quarter lead and cruised past Washington, 31-7. The Redskins had five turnovers.

Nail-biter of the week: Seattle's Mack Strong scored on a seven-yard run with 42 seconds left as the Seahawks edged Tampa Bay, 22-21. Seattle led 15-10 entering the fourth quarter. After Tampa Bay's Michael Husted kicked a 35-yard field goal for a 21-15 lead, Seattle marched 77 yards in 12 plays to snap a six-game losing streak.

Hit of the week: By Buffalo nose tackle Jeff Wright, whose last-minute sack of Green Bay's Brett Favre helped the Bills hold off the Packers. With just over two minutes left, Wright sacked Favre on the Packers' 1. On the next play, the Packers' Joe Sims was called for holding in the end zone, which gave the Bills a safety and the final two points of a 29-20 victory.

Oddity of the week: Three Vikings receivers topped the 100-yard mark in receptions—in a loss. Jake Reed had five catches for 121 yards, Adrian Cooper seven for 101 and Cris Carter 11 for 100.

Top rusher: Houston's Lorenzo White ran for a career-high 156 yards on 27 carries in a loss to the New York Giants.

Top passer: Minnesota's Moon completed 33 of 50 passes for 400 yards and two touchdowns in a loss to the Jets.

Top receiver: Buffalo's Andre Reed had 15 catches for 191 yards and two touchdowns in a victory over Green Bay.

Notes: Six quarterbacks were used and seven players threw passes in the Cowboys' rout of the Redskins. . . . The Cardinals beat Philadelphia, 12-6, the Cards' first win without scoring a touchdown since 1966. . . . The 49ers beat the Rams for the ninth consecutive time; it was San Francisco's fourth consecutive season sweep of their California rival. . . . Dallas completed a season sweep of the Redskins for the first time since 1985. . . . Detroit had the ball for just 15:48 in its loss to Chicago. The Bears controlled the ball for 44:12. . . . Houston's Jeff Fisher became the eighth coach to make his debut on Monday Night Football. He was the fifth to lose. . . . Green Bay's Chris Jacke had an extra-point attempt blocked for the first time in his six-year career in a loss to Buffalo. . . . Tampa Bay and Seattle came into the league together as expansion brothers in 1976. The teams met once each in '76 and '77, then not again until this season. . . . The Oilers lost by three points for an NFL-record fourth consecutive time.

Quote of the week: Atlanta Coach June Jones, on Elway's heroics: "Elway did what he's supposed to do. He's good at winning games in the fourth quarter, and he did it again."

HIGHLIGHTS

Hero of the week: Detroit cornerback Willie Clay, who had two interceptions in a 35-21 victory over Buffalo. The first came early in the fourth quarter, when he picked off a pass at Detroit's 3. The second came with 1:07 left and iced the victory. Clay stepped in front of a pass intended for Thurman Thomas and returned the interception 28 yards for a touchdown. The interceptions were the first two of Clay's three-year NFL career.

Goats of the week: New York Jets cornerbacks James Hasty and Aaron Glenn, who were burned repeatedly by Miami wide receiver Mark Ingram in a 28-24 loss. Ingram caught a team-record four touchdown passes, including two in the fourth quarter. The game-winner came with 22 seconds left when Glenn got faked out by Dan Marino, who fooled the rookie into thinking he would spike the ball to stop the clock. Ingram—who caught nine passes for 117 yards—was wide open when he caught the winning pass.

Sub of the week: Dallas quarterback Jason Garrett, who threw for 311 yards and two touchdowns against the league's fifth-ranked defense to lead the Cowboys past Green Bay, 42-31. Garrett, a third-stringer starting because of injuries to starter Troy Aikman and backup Rodney Peete, had not thrown a touchdown pass in his six NFL seasons before the game.

Comeback of the week: Miami rallied from deficits of 17-0 and 24-6 to stun the Jets. The winning touchdown came on a eight-yard touchdown pass from Marino to Ingram with 22 seconds left. It was the fifth time in his career that Marino engineered a fourth-quarter comeback against the Jets.

Blowout of the week: Cleveland took advantage of two Houston fumbles in Oilers territory to romp to a 34-10 victory. The Browns converted the fumbles into a field goal and a touchdown run to pull away from a 17-10 halftime lead. The final nine Oilers series ended with six punts, two fumbles and a fourth-down incompletion.

Nail-biter of the week: Chicago's Kevin Butler kicked a 27-yard field goal with 6:49 left in overtime to lift the Bears past Arizona, 19-16. Arizona's Greg Davis booted a 47-yard field goal to tie it at 16 with 58 seconds left in regulation. Arizona recovered the ensuing squib kick, but Chicago held and the game went into overtime.

Hit of the week: By Denver defensive tackle Ted Washington and safety Steve Atwater, who forced a fumble by Cincinnati's Harold Green with the Bengals threatening to score late in the game. Washington met Green head-on at the Broncos' 20 with 3:50 left, with Atwater coming in to jar the ball loose. Denver linebacker Elijah Alexander pounced on the fumble to preserve the victory.

Oddity of the week: The Jets recovered fumbles—three of them their own—on four consecutive plays in the fourth quarter in their loss.

Top rusher: Dallas' Emmitt Smith rushed for 133 yards and two touchdowns on 32 carries in a victory over Green Bay. He became the first back to gain 100 yards against the Packers in 1994.

Top passer: The Jets' Boomer Esiason completed 26 of 41 passes for 382 yards and two touchdowns in a loss to Miami.

Top receiver: Detroit's Herman Moore had seven receptions for 169 yards and a touchdown in a victory over Buffalo.

Notes: Kansas City's Joe Montana threw for 163 yards in a loss to Seattle to become just the fifth NFL passer to reach the 40,000-yard mark in a career. He joined Fran Tarkenton, Marino, Dan Fouts and Johnny Unitas. . . . The Cincinnati-Denver game marked the first time that sons of NFL head coaches faced each other. Bengals Coach Dave Shula is the son of Dolphins Coach Don Shula and Broncos Coach Wade Phillips is the son of former Oilers and Saints coach Bum Phillips. . . . Seattle's victory snapped its seven-game losing streak to Kansas City. . . . The Giants' victory over Washington was their 11th in the past 14 games against their NFC East rival. It was the fourth straight win and the sixth in the past seven games at the Redskins' RFK Stadium.... San Francisco became the first team to clinch a division title with the victory over New Orleans.... Denver QB John Elway reached two milestones. He became just the seventh NFL player to reach 40,000 career total yards, and also surpassed 3,000 yards passing for the ninth time in his career. Marino holds the NFL record (10).... New England's Ben Coates became the first NFL tight end to reach the 1,000-yard receiving mark since 1986.... Dallas scored a club-record 36 points in the second half to down Green Bay.... Philadelphia's Herschel Walker scored on a 91-yard run in a loss to Atlanta; it was the longest scoring run in the NFL since Bo Jackson went 92 yards in 1989.

Quote of the week: Dallas guard Nate Newton, on the performance by the heretofore-unknown Garrett: "If there is such a thing as fairy tales, then Jason I guess has a fairy god-daddy."

Hero of the week: Denver kicker Jason Elam, who kicked a 34-yard field goal with 2:48 left in overtime to give the Broncos their fourth consecutive victory, 20-17 over Kansas City.

Goat of the week: Philadelphia quarterback Randall Cunningham, who threw an interception on Dallas' 8 with seven minutes left. With the Eagles trailing 24-19, Cunningham threw a pass to running back James Joseph. But Cowboys strong safety Darren Woodson picked off the aerial, jumped over Cunningham's diving attempt at a tackle and returned the interception 94 yards for a touchdown in Dallas' 31-19 victory. The win clinched a third consecutive NFC East title for the Cowboys.

Sub of the week: Dallas quarterback Rodney Peete, who threw for 172 yards and a touchdown against the Eagles. The Cowboys won despite starting their third different quarterback in as many weeks.

Comeback of the week: Tampa Bay downed Washington, 26-21, thanks to a last-minute touchdown drive. Trailing 21-20 with 2:57 left, the Bucs drove 80 yards in 11 plays, capped by quarterback Craig Erickson's one-yard sneak with 32 seconds left. Rookie Errict Rhett led Tampa Bay's charge, outrushing Washington 192-10. It was the third time in four games that Rhett topped 100 yards.

Blowout of the week: Steve Young passed for 294 yards and three touchdowns and ran for two more scores as San Francisco beat Atlanta, 50-14. The 49ers, who totaled 476 yards, outscored the Falcons 92-17 in their two meetings in 1994.

Nail-biter of the week: Minnesota's Cris Carter beat Chicago linebacker Joe Cain to catch a 65-yard touchdown pass from Warren Moon with 9:14 left in overtime as the Vikings beat the Bears, 33-27. Chicago's Kevin Butler, who kicked a game-tying 33-yard field goal with 1:55 left in regulation, missed a 40-yard field goal just before Moon's scoring strike to Carter.

Hit of the week: By Denver linebacker Karl Mecklenburg, who forced a Marcus Allen fumble that led to a Broncos victory. After recovering a Denver fumble at the Broncos' 35 in overtime, Kansas City looked to break a 17-17 tie and claim victory. But five plays later, Allen was stripped of the ball by Mecklenburg and safety Dennis Smith recovered. The Broncos subsequently drove 41 yards to set up Elam's game-winning field goal.

Oddity of the week: Despite being involved in a car accident on Thursday night that left defensive tackle Mike Frier paralyzed and rookie running back Lamar Smith with a fractured foot, Seattle running back Chris Warren played on Sunday against Indianapolis. Hampered by two broken ribs sustained when Smith's car crashed into a utility pole, Warren gained 81 yards on 23 carries in the Seahawks' 31-19 loss to the Colts.

Top rusher: Tampa Bay's Rhett ran 40 times for 192 yards and a touchdown in Tampa Bay's victory.

Top passer: Green Bay's Brett Favre completed 29 of 43 passes for 366 yards with three touchdowns and two interceptions in a 34-31 loss to Detroit.

Top receiver: Cleveland rookie Derrick Alexander had seven receptions for 171 yards in a 16-13 loss to the New York Giants.

Notes: Before losing to Minnesota, Chicago had been 7-0 in games Steve Walsh started. . . . The Jets' Art Monk tied the NFL record of 177 consecutive games with a reception with a seven-yard catch in the first quarter of New York's 24-13 loss to New England. . . . Indianapolis' Marshall Faulk ran 27 times for 129 yards—his fourth 100-yard effort of the season—in a victory over Seattle, giving him a franchise rookie-record 1,086 yards rushing. In the same game, Seahawks quarterback Rick Mirer broke his left thumb when trying to tackle Colts cornerback Ray Buchanan, who had intercepted a Mirer pass. Buchanan returned the second-quarter interception 37 yards for a touchdown, and Mirer was lost for the season. . . . Cincinnati's Carl Pickens caught four passes for 105 yards in the Bengals' 38-15 loss to Pittsburgh, the fourth consecutive week he surpassed the 100-yard barrier. Atlanta's Andre Rison was the last player to accomplish the feat (1990).... The Raiders tied a team record with 17 penalties in a 24-17 victory over San Diego.... In the loss to Tampa Bay, Washington rushed for no first downs and just 10 yards in 12 attempts—the franchise's lowest total since a 14-yard effort against Philadelphia in 1947.... There were eight interception returns for touchdowns in 14 games, the most in a week since 1984. In the first 13 weeks of the 1994 season (168 games), there were 29 interception returns for touchdowns.... The Giants' Mike Sherrard had 101 yards receiving against Cleveland, making him the first receiver or rusher to gain 100 yards against the Browns this season.

Quote of the week: Saints quarterback Jim Everett, who threw for 161 yards and a touchdown in guiding his team to a victory over his old team, the Los Angeles Rams: "It's very special to come back here and get this one. Being 2-0 (against the Rams since signing with the Saints in the offseason) after going through all the stuff I went through here, well, it's hard to describe how that makes me feel."

HIGHLIGHTS

Hero of the week: Minnesota linebacker Jack Del Rio, whose interception helped the Vikings beat Buffalo, 21-17. Buffalo was driving for another score with a 17-12 lead late in the third quarter. But Del Rio made a one-handed interception at the Vikings' 19 to thwart the drive. On the ensuing drive, Minnesota scored on a one-yard run by Terry Allen to take the lead for good.

Goat of the week: Philadelphia quarterback Randall Cunningham, who guided an offense that generated 105 yards in a 14-3 loss to Pittsburgh. Cunningham hit nine of 27 passes for 59 yards with an interception as the Eagles lost their fifth in a row. Cunningham: "Something's wrong.... Our offense just isn't working."

Sub of the week: Tampa Bay wide receiver Charles Wilson, who came on when Courtney Hawkins sprained a ligament in his left knee in the first quarter of a 24-14 victory over the Los Angeles Rams. Wilson teamed with Craig Erickson on a 71-yard scoring strike in the second quarter and a 44-yard touchdown pass with 1:34 left in the game. Wilson had four catches for 176 yards.

Comeback of the week: The New York Giants rallied to beat Cincinnati, 27-20. The Giants took possession on their 34 after Cincinnati's Doug Pelfrey kicked a game-tying 23-yard field goal with 1:47 left. Quarterback Dave Brown completed three passes to move the ball to the Bengals' 25. On first and 10, Brown caught Cincinnati in a blitz and threw down the left sideline to Mike Sherrard, who was covered by cornerback Corey Sawyer. The pass was incomplete, but pass interference was called. On the next play, Rodney Hampton ran three yards for the winning touchdown with 40 seconds left.

Blowout of the week: Edgar Bennett rushed for 106 yards and a touchdown as Green Bay ran for 257 yards, the club's best total in more than nine years, en route to a 40-3 rout of Chicago. The Packers finished with 516 total yards.

Nail-biter of the week: A 32-yard field goal by Matt Stover with 1:49 left in the fourth quarter gave Cleveland what looked like a safe 19-14 lead over Dallas. But Kevin Williams returned the ensuing kickoff 42 yards to Dallas' 49, and Troy Aikman proceeded to drive Dallas to the Browns' 6 with 10 seconds left. On what turned out to be the game's last play, Aikman passed to tight end Jay Novacek, who caught the ball over the middle at the 1 but slipped on the wet Texas Stadium turf. Cleveland safety Eric Turner instantly made contact with Novacek, who was inches from the goal line as time expired.

Hit of the week: By Seattle strong safety Robert Blackmon, whose tackle of Todd McNair saved a 16-14 victory over Houston. Blackmon tackled McNair on a two-point conversion pass from Billy Joe Tolliver with 2:53 left to deny the tying points.

Oddity of the week: In what turned out to be an accurate barometer of Super Bowl XXIX, San Francisco whipped San Diego, 38-15. The only thing different about this meeting and the Super Bowl encounter was the location. This game was in San Diego, and the Chargers' secondary was ripped for 298 yards and two touchdowns. In Miami on January 29, 1995, San Diego again had its secondary torched (316 yards and six touchdowns) in a 49-26 Super Bowl loss.

Top rusher: Chris Warren ran for 185 yards and a touchdown on 30 carries in Seattle's victory.

Top passer: San Diego's Stan Humphries completed 25 of 43 passes for 337 yards, one touchdown and two interceptions in the Chargers' loss.

Top receiver: Washington's Henry Ellard caught eight passes for 191 yards and a touchdown as the Redskins lost, 17-15, to Arizona.

Notes: Jets receiver Art Monk broke Steve Largent's all-time mark of 177 consecutive games with at least one reception when he caught a five-yard pass from quarterback Boomer Esiason on the first play from scrimmage in an 18-7 loss to Detroit. . . . Kansas City's Jon Vaughn scored on a 91-yard kickoff return in a 45-28 loss to Miami, the first return for a touchdown against the Dolphins since 1975. . . . The Jets' loss to Detroit ensured the franchise of its sixth consecutive losing season. . . . Ernest Givins became the first Oiler to return a punt for a touchdown since 1977 when he ran one back 78 yards in the loss to Seattle. . . . Warren Moon threw for 261 yards against Buffalo, becoming the first Vikings quarterback to eclipse the 4,000-yard mark in a season. . . . Indianapolis cornerback Ray Buchanan returned an interception 90 yards for a touchdown in a 28-13 loss at New England, marking the third time in five games he turned the trick. . . . The Buccaneers' victory over the Rams was their third consecutive win, a feat they hadn't accomplished since they won their final three contests in 1982.

WEEK 15

Quote of the week: New England quarterback Drew Bledsoe, who led New England to a victory over Indianapolis despite throwing four interceptions: "It's a great asset as a quarterback to know you have a coach that has confidence in you. He'll (Coach Bill Parcells) still let you throw the ball even if you're having an off day."

HIGHLIGHTS

Hero of the week: Kansas City defensive end Neil Smith, who had two sacks, four tackles, one pass breakup, one forced fumble and one fumble recovery in the Chiefs' 31-9 trouncing of Houston.

Goat of the week: Seattle's John Kasay, who missed a game-winning field-goal attempt with nine seconds left against the Los Angeles Raiders. With Seattle trailing, 17-16, Kasay hooked the 43-yard attempt.

Sub of the week: Denver quarterback Hugh Millen, who came on when John Elway was forced to leave the Broncos' game in San Francisco in the third quarter after being sacked six times. Millen guided the Broncos to a pair of third-quarter touchdowns and extended his string of completions to 20 over two games before an incompletion in the fourth quarter. The incompletion left him two completions shy of Joe Montana's NFL record. But Millen's heroics were too little, too late, as the 49ers rolled, 42-19.

Comeback of the week: With Tampa Bay trailing Washington, 14-10, with 10 minutes remaining, the Bucs' Vernon Turner returned a punt 37 yards to the Redskins' 28. Four plays later, Errict Rhett scored his second touchdown of the game on a three-yard run. Washington got the ball back twice but couldn't manage a first down as the Buccaneers held on to win their fourth game in a row. The winning streak is Tampa Bay's longest since 1979 and gave the Redskins a 0-8 home record, the first time in franchise history Washington failed to win a home game.

Blowout of the week: Behind quarterback Drew Bledsoe, New England buried Buffalo, 41-17, for its sixth consecutive victory, which moved the Patriots closer to their first playoff berth in eight seasons and eliminated the Bills from playoff contention. Bledsoe completed 22 of 31 passes for 276 yards and three touchdowns to rally New England from a 17-3 deficit. It was the Patriots' first victory in Buffalo since 1987.

Nail-biter of the week: Brad Daluiso's 18-yard field goal with 54 seconds left gave the New York Giants a 16-13 victory over Philadelphia. It was the Giants' fifth victory in a row, including their third straight in the final minute, and kept them in the playoff hunt. Daluiso's decisive kick was set up when Philadelphia's Jeff Sydner fumbled a kickoff return after running into one of his blockers. After Daluiso's kick, Bubby Brister completed four passes to move the Eagles from their 42 to the Giants' 32. The last of those completions was a five-yard toss to Victor Bailey on the right sideline. With the Eagles out of timeouts, Bailey was unable to get out of bounds but attempted to push the ball to the sideline. Giants linebacker Jessie Armstead picked up the dead ball and headed in the other direction. But officials stopped play and allowed Philadelphia to run a play. Brister spiked the ball, which stopped the clock with two seconds left. That was enough time to give Eddie Murray a chance to kick a 44-yard field goal. His boot was long enough but wide left.

Hit of the week: By Chicago defenders Maurice Douglass and Chris Zorich, on Los Angeles Rams quarterback Chris Chandler. Chandler looked like he might score on a scramble from the Bears' 3 in the second quarter. But Zorich and Douglass tackled him at the 1. Los Angeles settled for a field goal. The hit on Chandler caused a knot in his back that forced him to miss the second half of a game Chicago won, 27-13.

Oddity of the week: Green Bay made its final game in Milwaukee's County Stadium memorable, beating Atlanta, 21-17, to finish with a 107-63-1 record in Brewtown. Brett Favre scrambled nine yards down the right sideline for the game-winning score with 14 seconds left.

Top rusher: Seattle's Chris Warren ran 24 times for 122 yards and a touchdown in the Seahawks' 17-16 loss to the Los Angeles Raiders. Warren became the Seahawks' all-time single-season rushing leader (1,484 yards).

Top passer: Steve Young completed 20 of 29 passes for 350 yards with three touchdowns and an interception as San Francisco won its 10th in a row.

Top receiver: The 49ers' Jerry Rice caught nine passes for 121 yards and a touchdown in the victory over Denver.

Notes: Cris Carter caught eight passes for 80 yards in Minnesota's 41-19 loss to Detroit, giving him an NFL single-season-record 119 receptions. Detroit's Mel Gray ran back a kickoff 98 yards for a touchdown, which allowed him to tie NFL records for career kickoff returns for touchdowns (six) and career punt/kickoff returns for touchdowns (nine).... New England became the first team to have five players with 51 catches apiece in a season when Vincent Brisby made four receptions (giving him 51) in the Patriots' win. The other New England players with 51 receptions: Ben Coates, Michael Timpson, LeRoy Thompson and Kevin Turner.... San Diego beat the New York Jets, 21-6, to clinch the AFC West title. Natrone Means ran for 73 yards to become the Chargers' single-season rushing leader (1,265).... A 28-7 win over Cincinnati ensured Arizona of its first non-losing season since 1984.... Pittsburgh beat Cleveland, 17-7, making the Steelers 21-4 against the Browns at Three Rivers Stadium.

Quote of the week: Pittsburgh cornerback Tim McKyer, after the Steelers beat Cleveland to clinch the AFC Central title: "I've been around, and everywhere I go, we kick butt."

HIGHLIGHTS

Hero of the week: Green Bay wide receiver Sterling Sharpe, who had seven receptions for 109 yards and three touchdowns in the first half of a 34-19 victory over Tampa Bay. But early in the second half, Sharpe sustained a neck injury that appeared to be career-threatening. Sharpe finished with nine catches for 132 yards and three touchdowns. His 18 touchdown catches in 1994 broke Don Hutson's club record of 17.

Goat of the week: Chicago's Kevin Butler, who missed two potential game-tying field goals (one was blocked, the other shanked) in the second half of the Bears' 13-3 loss to New England. Despite the loss, Chicago made the playoffs as the NFC's sixth seed. That meant an unprecedented four NFC Central teams would play in the postseason. The victory allowed the Patriots to qualify for the playoffs for the first time since 1986.

Sub of the week: Houston quarterback Bucky Richardson, who was making his first start since the team's sixth game. Richardson led Houston to a 24-10 victory over the New York Jets, ending the Oilers' 11-game losing streak. Richardson completed 17 of 29 passes for 220 yards and two interceptions. He also rushed for 46 yards on six carries, including a one-yard touchdown run.

Comeback of the week: Trailing Philadelphia, 30-20, with 5:13 left, Cincinnati scored a touchdown and two field goals in the final 3:32 to register a 33-30 victory. The Bengals' Doug Pelfrey kicked a 22-yard field goal with three seconds left that tied it. Looking to run out the clock and go into overtime, Pelfrey squibbed the ensuing kickoff. But the Eagles fumbled the kick and Cincinnati recovered with one second left. Pelfrey kicked a game-winning 54-yard field goal as time expired.

Blowout of the week: Cleveland raced to a 35-3 lead before claiming a 35-9 victory over Seattle. The Browns scored a touchdown on their first possession and three of their first five, building a 21-0 halftime lead that never was threatened.

Nail-biter of the week: Trailing Indianapolis, 10-9, Buffalo had one last chance for victory. But Steve Christie's 46-yard field-goal attempt bounced off the right upright on the game's final play, allowing the Colts to post their first back-to-back victories of the season. Indianapolis didn't allow a touchdown in its final two games of 1994.

Hit of the week: By Atlanta linebackers Jessie Tuggle and Clay Matthews, who combined to stop Arizona's Ron Moore for no gain at the Falcons' 1 on the last play of the game as Atlanta won, 10-6.

Oddity of the week: It was business as usual for the Los Angeles Rams, who capped their fifth consecutive losing season with a 24-21 loss to Washington. It was the franchise's final game as a resident of Southern California, where the Rams have toiled since 1946. With attendance lagging and economic woes mounting, the Rams moved in the off-season to St. Louis. A crowd of 25,705, the smallest since the Rams moved to Anaheim from Los Angeles in 1980, turned out.

Top rusher: Kansas City's Marcus Allen ran 33 times for 132 yards in the Chiefs' 19-9 victory over the Los Angeles Raiders. Allen's effort pushed him over the 10,000-yard career plateau, making him just the ninth NFL player to accomplish the feat. The victory qualified Kansas City for a wild-card playoff berth.

Top passer: The Saints' Jim Everett completed 23 of 27 passes for 343 yards and three touchdowns in New Orleans' 30-28 victory over Denver.

Top receiver: Torrance Small caught six passes for a career-high 200 yards and two touchdowns in the Saints' triumph.

Notes: Washington finished 3-13, its worst record since going 1-12-1 in 1961. . . . The Jets-Oilers game drew 31,176, the smallest Oilers crowd at the Astrodome since 1987. . . . Steve Young completed 12 of 13 passes for 94 yards and a touchdown before leaving early in the second quarter of the 49ers' loss to Minnesota. That effort helped him surpass Joe Montana's NFL-record passing rating (112.4, set in 1989) with a 112.8. Young also eclipsed Ken Anderson's record for completion percentage (70.55, set in 1982) with a 70.7. The victory gave the Vikings their second NFC Central title in three seasons.... Barry Sanders' bid for 2,000 yards was smothered by Miami, which beat the Lions, 27-20, to win its second AFC East title in three seasons. Sanders needed 169 yards to become the third 2,000-yard rusher in NFL history but was held to 52 yards on 12 carries.... Dallas had its 14-game NFC East winning streak ended in a 15-10 loss to the New York Giants.... New England's Drew Bledsoe set an NFL record for pass attempts in a season with 691. Teammate Ben Coates caught three passes to set an NFL single-season record for receptions by a tight end (96).... Tampa Bay's loss to Green Bay was the Bucs' 10th of 1994, extending the franchise's NFL-record streak of consecutive seasons with double-digit losses to 12.... Jeff George started all 16 games, a first for an Atlanta quarterback since Steve Bartkowski did it in 1981.... The Colts' Marshall Faulk rushed for 82 yards to finish with a franchise rookie-record 1,282.

Quote of the week: San Diego linebacker Junior Seau, after the Chargers downed Pittsburgh, 37-34: "We've got to learn how to tackle again. If we learned how to tackle, we could limit plays to nine yards instead of 90."

WEEK 17

WILD-CARD GAMES

AFC

MIAMI 27, KANSAS CITY 17

Why the Dolphins won: Dan Marino was splendid, completing 22 of 29 passes for 257 yards and two touchdowns. Behind his guidance, Miami converted nine of 15 third-/fourth-down conversions.

Why the Chiefs lost: Following a stellar first half that ended in a 17-17 tie, Kansas City's offense and defense faltered in the second half. Two fourth-quarter turnovers in Miami territory ruined scoring chances, and the Chiefs' defense couldn't stop Marino.

The turning points:

1. With Kansas City trailing, 27-17, in the fourth quarter, Joe Montana forced a pass to Eric Martin, which Miami cornerback J.B. Brown intercepted at the goal line with 10:15 remaining.

2. After holding Miami following the Montana interception, Kansas City again turned over the ball in Dolphins' territory. This time, Marcus Allen allowed Miami safety Michael Stewart to wrestle the ball away from him.

3. Following the Allen fumble, outside linebacker Derrick Thomas ended any remaining hope by being penalized for illegal use of the hands after the Chiefs had held Miami on third and 11 with 4:37 remaining. The penalty gave the Dolphins a first down at Kansas City's 46.

Notable: Marino has thrown a touchdown pass in an NFL-record 11 consecutive playoff games. . . . Miami linebacker Jesse Solomon, playing for injured Dwight Hollier, earned a game ball by making eight tackles. Entering the game, Solomon had just one all season.

Quotable: Dolphins Coach Don Shula, on the fact that Miami responded with scores after each of Kansas City's first three scoring drives in the opening half: "That really gave us great momentum going into the locker room and coming out for the third-quarter drive (which saw Miami score 10 points)."

CLEVELAND 20, NEW ENGLAND 13

Why the Browns won: Avoiding the mistakes that had become his trademark since his days at the University of Miami, Cleveland quarterback Vinny Testaverde completed 20 of 30 passes for 268 yards and a touchdown. At one point, Testaverde, playing in his first playoff game, completed 11 consecutive attempts.

Why the Patriots lost: Drew Bledsoe was intercepted three times, including twice in the fourth quarter, en route to completing just 21 of 50 passes for 235 yards. The Browns intercepted Bledsoe four times in a 13-6 win over New England on November 6, the last time the Patriots had lost before this wild-card game.

The turning points

1. With the game tied at 10, Testaverde completed all four passes on a 79-yard drive that was capped by Leroy Hoard's 10-yard scoring run, which put Cleveland ahead to stay with 2:21 left in the third quarter.

2. New England, in the playoffs for the first time since 1986, had a chance to tie it after recovering an onside kick at its 36 with 1:28 left. But after leading the Patriots to one first down, Bledsoe threw four consecutive incompletions from his 48.

Notable: By running for 30 yards, Earnest Byner became Cleveland's all-time leading playoff rusher with 437 yards in five games. . . . This was the Browns' first postseason game since 1989. . . . Cleveland Coach Bill Belichick was a defensive assistant under New England Coach Bill Parcells for eight years with the New York Giants. . . . Patriots kicker Matt Bahr, who spent nine seasons (1981-89) with Cleveland, scored seven points to become the second-leading scorer in NFL postseason history. Bahr has 103 points, one more than Pittsburgh's Franco Harris. Only George Blanda, with 115, has scored more. Bahr also has 21 field goals in the playoffs, second to Blanda's 22.

Quotable: Testaverde: "This was the biggest game of my career, and next week (at Pittsburgh) will be even bigger. I am satisfied with the way I played and with the way the team played."

WILD-CARD GAMES

GREEN BAY 16, DETROIT 12

Why the Packers won: Wide receiver Robert Brooks and tight end Mark Chmura stepped up. The Packers were without star receiver Sterling Sharpe, sidelined by a career-threatening neck injury sustained late in the season. Brooks made seven catches for 88 yards and Chmura five for 75 yards.

Why the Lions lost: Detroit's Barry Sanders, who led the NFL with 1,883 yards rushing during the regular season, was held to a career-low minus-1 yard on 13 carries. As a team, the Lions rushed for minus-4 yards on 15 carries, which set an NFL playoff record.

The turning points:

1. Trailing, 16-10, Detroit faced a fourth and 14 from Green Bay's 17 with 1:51 left. Lions quarterback Dave Krieg threw to the back of the end zone to Herman Moore, who outleaped Packers safety George Teague to make the catch. But Moore landed out of bounds. Green Bay took over on downs, but its offense couldn't run out the clock and faced a fourth and five from its 22. Faced with the prospect of punting to Mel Gray, who had run back four kickoffs for 159 yards and one punt for 17 in the game, the Packers had punter Craig Hentrich kill the clock by running into the end zone and taking a safety.

2. Trailing, 10-0, in the third quarter, Detroit made things interesting with two big plays. First, a 36-yard pass from Krieg to Moore set up a 38-yard field goal by Jason Hanson. After a 32-yard field goal by Chris Jacke restored Green Bay's lead to 10 (13-3), Gray returned the ensuing kickoff 68 yards to the Packers' 18 on the last play of the third quarter. Five plays later, Krieg passed to Brett Perriman in the back left corner of the end zone for a three-yard touchdown pass with 13:35 remaining. That cut the lead to 13-10, but it was the last time the Detroit offense would score.

Notable: Jacke's 51-yard field goal in the second quarter was the longest in Packers postseason history.... The contest was the first non-strike playoff game at Lambeau Field since the "Ice Bowl" contest in 1967, when Green Bay beat Dallas, 21-17, to win its third consecutive NFL title.

Quotable: Green Bay defensive lineman Reggie White, on shutting down Sanders, who ran for 188 yards against Green Bay on December 4: "That is inconceivable. He does things that no other back does."

CHICAGO 35, MINNESOTA 18

Why the Bears won: Steve Walsh, playing in his hometown area, completed 15 of 23 passes for 221 yards. It was his best game since he quarterbacked the Bears in a 33-27 overtime loss at the Metrodome on December 1. Walsh, a St. Paul native, started Chicago's last eight games in place of Erik Kramer, who signed a lucrative free-agent contract with the Bears in the off-season. Walsh won eight of 11 regular-season starts.

Why the Vikings lost: Warren Moon continued to be frustrated in the postseason. Hampered by a sprained left knee ligament that caused him to miss the regular-season finale, Moon hit 29 of 52 passes for 294 yards with two touchdowns and two interceptions in the defeat, his fourth consecutive playoff loss. Moon set Minnesota playoff records for attempts and completions.

Turning points:

1. Chicago was sloppy early. First, running back Lewis Tillman fumbled at Chicago's 6 on the Bears' first possession. On Chicago's next drive, Walsh hit a Bears lineman in the helmet with a pass that bounced into the air and was intercepted. But Minnesota didn't take advantage of the turnovers, managing only a 3-0 lead.

2. After the shaky start, Walsh engineered touchdown drives of 80 and 71 yards. He was 6 for 6 on the Bears' first touchdown drive, capped by Tillman's one-yard run. Walsh's 52-yard pass to Jeff Graham highlighted Chicago's next touchdown drive, which ended with a nine-yard scoring strike from Walsh to Keith Jennings as the Bears took a 14-9 halftime lead.

Notable: The loss made Moon 3-7 in the postseason. . . . Dennis Green, who took over as Minnesota coach in 1992, is 0-3 in the playoffs with the Vikings. . . . The victory was Chicago's first in the postseason since 1990, and its first as a wild-card team. . . . Raymont Harris' 29-yard touchdown run in the third quarter was the longest of the season for Chicago. It came against a Minnesota defense that entered the game first in the NFL against the run. . . . Vikings running back Amp Lee caught a team-playoff-record 11 passes.

Quotable: Bears receiver Curtis Conway: "We've been underdogs all year. A lot of people said we couldn't beat the Vikings. We won when we needed to win."

DIVISIONAL PLAYOFFS

AFC

PITTSBURGH 29, CLEVELAND 9

Why the Steelers won: Barry Foster was able to run wild, gaining 133 yards on 24 carries. That allowed Neil O'Donnell, who completed 16 of 23 passes for 186 yards and two touchdowns, to pick apart a frustrated Cleveland defense.

Why the Browns lost: After an excellent performance in a wild-card victory over New England the previous week, Vinny Testaverde reverted to his familiar mistake-prone ways by completing just 13 of 31 passes for 144 yards and two interceptions. He was forced into many bad throws by the Steelers' vaunted "Blitzburgh" defense.

The turning points:

1. Cleveland failed to score on its first three possessions, as Derrick Alexander and Earnest Byner dropped two passes apiece. Conversely, Pittsburgh scored on its first three drives en route to building a 17-0 lead.

2. The Steelers put the game away late in the second quarter. After Cleveland kicker Matt Stover booted a 22-yard field goal to cut the Steelers' lead to 17-3, the Browns got the ball back when Pittsburgh receiver Ernie Mills fumbled. But a Testaverde pass to Alexander, who was covered well, was intercepted by Tim McKyer. The Steelers promptly scored, as O'Donnell hooked up with Yancey Thigpen on a nine-yard scoring strike with 16 seconds left in the half. That gave Pittsburgh a 24-3 halftime lead.

Notable: The victory was the Steelers' third of the season over the Browns, an unprecedented feat in the teams' 45-year rivalry. This was the first time the two clubs had met in the postseason, and it was Pittsburgh's first home playoff victory since 1979. . . . The loss made Cleveland 4-22 all-time in Three Rivers Stadium. . . . Since a 1969 postseason victory at Dallas, the Browns have dropped eight consecutive road playoff games.

Quotable: Cleveland safety Eric Turner: "They dominated the whole game. It's hard for me to say it, but that's what they did. They were at a championship level. You can't let a team run on you like that in a game like this."

SAN DIEGO 22, MIAMI 21

Why the Chargers won: They were able to keep Miami quarterback Dan Marino on the sidelines for most of the second half. He shredded the blitzing San Diego defense for 206 yards and three touchdowns in the first half, as Miami built a 21-6 lead. But in the second half, the Dolphins ran only 17 plays and had the ball for just 7:22, thanks largely to a 202-yard Chargers rushing attack spearheaded by Natrone Means. Marino netted only 56 yards passing in the second half, when the Dolphins were shut out.

Why the Dolphins lost: After San Diego battled back from a 21-6 deficit to take a 22-21 lead with 35 seconds left, the Dolphins quickly got themselves in position to win the game. Miami, which started its final drive on its 38 after recovering a squib kickoff, was aided by a 32-yard pass interference penalty against safety Eric Castle. That helped put kicker Pete Stoyanovich in position to win the game with a 48-yard field goal. But his kick sailed wide right with one second left.

The turning points:

1. The Chargers' comeback got off to an ominous start. With Miami leading, 21-6, San Diego took the second-half kickoff and marched 71 yards to Miami's 1. But on fourth down, Means was stopped. But the Chargers' defense stepped up, as tackle Reuben Davis stopped Bernie Parmalee in the end zone for a safety with 6:54 left in the third quarter. The comeback had begun.

2. San Diego trailed, 21-15, but had the ball on Miami's 8 late in the fourth quarter. San Diego lined up tight in a running formation, then sent everybody left. After a slight delay, receiver Mark Seay went right and was wide open. Stan Humphries, who faked a handoff and rolled right, quickly found Seay and hit him with what proved to be the game-winning touchdown pass with 35 seconds left.

Notable: Marino extended his NFL record to 12 consecutive playoff games with at least one touchdown pass. . . . By winning, the Chargers advanced to their first AFC title game since the 1981 season. . . . Trailing, 21-15, with 4:37 left in the game, San Diego scored what appeared to be the go-ahead touchdown when Humphries hit Shawn Jefferson with a 37-yard scoring strike. But officials ruled Jefferson was out of bounds. TV replays showed Jefferson had both feet in bounds on the reception. On the next play, Humphries was intercepted by safety Michael Stewart.

Quotable: Seay on his game-winning catch: "When I looked up, it just seemed to take forever for the ball to get there. I was going to catch the ball no matter if there was a diesel truck in front of me."

SAN FRANCISCO 44, CHICAGO 15

Why the 49ers won: San Francisco's offense couldn't be stopped, as it surpassed 30 points for the ninth time in 11 games. Steve Young completed 16 of 22 passes for 143 yards, and a host of runners combined for 145 yards. The 49ers raced to a 30-3 halftime lead and increased their edge to 37-3 late in the third quarter. By then, most of the starters had been pulled.

Why the Bears lost: The high-powered San Francisco offense doesn't need help getting started, but Chicago provided a boost. A pair of Steve Walsh interceptions and a botched fake punt, all in the first half, helped fuel a streak of 37 consecutive points by the 49ers.

Turning points:

1. San Francisco tight end Brent Jones fumbled after catching a pass and Chicago defensive end Alonzo Spellman recovered the ball at the 49ers' 36. But the Bears had to settle for Kevin Butler's 39-yard field goal and a 3-0 lead. From there, it was all San Francisco, which scored on its next five possessions.

2. Trailing, 23-3, and struggling to move the ball, the Bears tried a fake punt with 2:15 left in the first half. The ball was snapped to the upback, Tony Carter, but he dropped it as he began to run and Dedrick Dodge swooped in to make the tackle and prevent Chicago from getting a first down.

Notable: Chicago has been outscored, 150-32, in its past four games against San Francisco.... The defeat was the third-worst playoff beating in Chicago history.... After Young scored on a six-yard touchdown run with 1:17 left in the first half, he was leveled in the end zone by Chicago safety Shaun Gayle. Young got up and spiked the ball at Gayle's feet, while Jones and Jerry Rice confronted Gayle. A brief melee ensued.

Quotable: San Francisco Coach George Seifert: "I didn't see much of anything we did wrong. We're pleased with our first step. We know we have to crank it up."

DALLAS 35, GREEN BAY 9

Why the Cowboys won: Troy Aikman, who had one touchdown pass and seven interceptions in his previous five games, registered the best postseason numbers of his career, completing 23 of 30 passes for 337 yards with two touchdown passes.

Why the Packers lost: Poor play in the secondary, particularly by cornerback Terrell Buckley, doomed Green Bay. The 5-foot-9 Buckley was overmatched by the big Dallas receivers. Also, the absence of star receiver Sterling Sharpe, who missed the game with a neck injury, hindered the Packers' attack.

Turning points:

1. Nursing a 7-3 lead in the first quarter, Dallas took control. Aikman, standing three yards deep in his end zone, launched a pass to Alvin Harper, who caught it at the 50. Harper proceeded to outrun Buckley before breaking safety George Teague's attempted arm tackle at the 10-yard line en route to scoring a 94-yard touchdown.

2. A one-yard touchdown run by Edgar Bennett with 4:31 left in the first half cut Dallas' lead to 21-9 and gave Green Bay life. But the Packers' comeback hopes were dashed on the Cowboys' ensuing possession, when Buckley dropped a potential interception in the end zone. Five plays later, Buckley, who was whistled for illegal contact in the third quarter, was called for pass interference. The Dallas drive culminated with Aikman's one-yard pass to tight end Scott Galbraith with 11 seconds left in the half. That gave the Cowboys a 28-9 halftime lead.

Notable: Harper's 94-yard touchdown catch was the longest in NFL postseason history. Of Harper's 23 career postseason receptions, nine have been for at least 35 yards. . . . Three Cowboys—tight end Jay Novacek (104) and wide receivers Michael Irvin (111) and Harper (108)—finished with 100 receiving yards, which equaled an NFL postseason record. . . . Aikman improved to 7-0 as a postseason starter. The victory also was Dallas' 28th all-time playoff triumph, the most in the NFL. . . . Emmitt Smith left the game in the final minutes of the first quarter after reinjuring his left hamstring, which he originally hurt three weeks ago. He finished the game with seven carries for 44 yards. Blair Thomas took his place, rushing for a game-high 70 yards on 23 carries.

Quotable: Green Bay Coach Mike Holmgren: "They have a lot of great weapons, and it seems like they always pop big plays whenever they play us. All the teams in the NFL are trying to catch the 49ers and the Cowboys. Next week will be a great game (Dallas-San Francisco in the NFC final). It's what the public wanted and now here it is."

CONFERENCE CHAMPIONSHIPS

SAN DIEGO 17, PITTSBURGH 13

Why the Chargers won: The San Diego offense made the big plays when needed. The Chargers ran just 16 plays and had the ball for a mere 7:49 in the first half but only trailed 10-3 because Pittsburgh's offense had trouble scoring despite racking up yardage. San Diego took command in the second half, when Stan Humphries tossed two 43-yard touchdown passes.

Why the Steelers lost: After finding it easy to throw on the Chargers early in the game, Pittsburgh all but abandoned its running attack and switched to a short- to medium-range passing game. Despite compiling gaudy statistics, the Steelers had trouble finishing drives, mainly because their rushing game never got on track.

Turning points:

1. Trailing, 13-10, late in the fourth quarter, the Chargers faced a third and 14 from the Steelers' 43. Humphries threw deep despite a blitz. His pass was caught for what proved to be the game-winning touchdown by Tony Martin, who beat veteran cornerback Tim McKyer.

2. Trailing, 17-13, Pittsburgh drove from its 17 to San Diego's 3 with 68 seconds left. On fourth down, Neil O'Donnell passed to Barry Foster, who was open briefly over the middle just inside the end zone. But linebacker Dennis Gibson reached in front of Foster and knocked down the low pass, clinching victory for the Chargers.

Notable: By winning, San Diego advanced to the Super Bowl for the first time. . . . O'Donnell set AFC title game marks for attempts (54) and completions (32). . . . It was the first time since the 1979 season that Pittsburgh hosted the AFC title game. . . . The Chargers improved their all-time record in Pittsburgh to 2-9. Ironically, San Diego's only other victory in the Steel City was in the postseason, when the Chargers beat the Steelers, 31-28, in 1982. Like this encounter, the '82 contest also featured San Diego rallying from a 10-point second-half deficit to win. . . . San Diego entered the game with the NFL's best road record (6-2). . . . Pittsburgh had the NFL's top rushing offense during the regular season. But the Steelers ran for only 66 yards on 26 carries against the Chargers. San Diego hasn't allowed a 100-yard rusher in 29 contests. The last to run for 100 against the Chargers was Foster on October 10, 1993.

Quotable: Pittsburgh linebacker Chad Brown: "This is an awful feeling. We're not going to the Super Bowl. We're not going to the show."

SAN FRANCISCO 38, DALLAS 28

Why the 49ers won: San Francisco's defense, which was retooled in the off-season specifically to beat Dallas, scored the first touchdown of the game and set the tone for victory early.

Why the Cowboys lost: Turnovers doomed Dallas. Troy Aikman threw three interceptions and the Cowboys lost two fumbles. Dallas committed three of its miscues early in the first quarter, as San Francisco converted the turnovers into a 21-0 lead with 7:33 left in the quarter. The Cowboys never got closer than 10 points thereafter.

The turning points:

1. Three plays into the game, San Francisco cornerback Eric Davis switched off Michael Irvin at the last moment and stepped in front of Kevin Williams to pick off a pass and subsequently race untouched 44 yards for the first touchdown.

2. Dallas' second possession was as disastrous as its first. On the third play of the series, Davis forced a second turnover when he stripped Irvin of the ball. It took the 49ers just five plays to score, as Ricky Watters caught a 29-yard touchdown pass from Steve Young to cap the 39-yard drive.

3. After San Francisco took a 14-0 lead, Williams fumbled the ensuing kickoff after he was hit by Adam Walker. The 49ers recovered and proceeded to move 35 yards in seven plays en route to their third touchdown of the first quarter, as William Floyd scored on a one-yard run.

Notable: The loss was the first for Aikman in the postseason (7-1).... Irvin set an NFC championship game record with 192 yards receiving. His 12 catches tied an NFC title game mark.... Emmitt Smith, whose status was in doubt until game time because of a nagging hamstring pull in his left leg, gained 74 yards on 20 carries before injuring his right hamstring in the fourth quarter.... San Francisco had lost the previous two NFC title games to Dallas.

Quotable: Dallas Coach Barry Switzer: "You go out and play five minutes of the ball game and give San Francisco 21 points.... It's kind of like the Keystone Cops. It's a laugher."

SUPER BOWL XXIX

AT JOE ROBBIE STADIUM, MIAMI, JANUARY 29, 1995

SAN FRANCISCO 49, SAN DIEGO 26

Why the 49ers won: San Francisco's offense was unstoppable, scoring on six of its first eight possessions. The 49ers led, 28-10, at halftime and by as many as 32 points in the second half.

Why the Chargers lost: The San Diego defense, particularly its secondary, was beaten often and tackled poorly. Steve Young, the game's MVP, completed 24 of 36 passes for 325 yards and a Super Bowl-record six touchdowns. He also paced the 49ers with 49 yards rushing.

The turning points:

1. After receiving the opening kickoff, San Francisco needed just two plays to reach San Diego territory. On San Francisco's third play, Jerry Rice split safeties Stanley Richard and Darren Carrington and caught Young's 44-yard touchdown pass. Only 84 seconds had expired, making it the quickest touchdown in Super Bowl history.

2. After falling behind, 14-0, with 10:05 left in the first quarter, the Chargers tried to stay close. They orchestrated an impressive 13-play, 78-yard drive behind the running of Natrone Means, who capped the effort with a one-yard scoring run. But San Francisco responded on its next possession, driving 70 yards on 10 plays, with Young finishing off the drive with a five-yard touchdown pass to William Floyd for a 21-7 lead with 13:02 left in the first half.

Notable: It was a record fifth Super Bowl win—against no losses—for San Francisco. . . . Rice set Super Bowl career records for touchdowns (seven), points (42) and reception yards (512). . . . In the third quarter, San Diego's Andre Coleman tied a Super Bowl record when he returned a kickoff 98 yards for a touchdown. It was just the third kickoff return for a score in Super Bowl history. . . . 49ers linebacker Ken Norton, who left Dallas in the off-season to sign a free-agent deal with San Francisco, became the first player to be a member of three consecutive Super Bowl champs. . . . The AFC has lost the past 11 Super Bowls.

Quotable: San Francisco tight end Brent Jones, on the 49ers' offense: "I don't think anybody can touch it. The statistics speak for themselves. The yards. The points. The weapons. I mean, every one of these guys is an All-Pro, all the time."

PRO BOWL

AT ALOHA STADIUM, HONOLULU, FEBRUARY 5, 1995

AFC 41, NFC 13

Why the AFC won: Its running game was terrific. The AFC piled up 400 yards on 40 attempts, and Marshall Faulk of the Indianapolis Colts, the only rookie in the game, set a Pro Bowl rushing record with 180 yards on 13 carries.

Why the NFC lost: Unlike the AFC, the NFC could muster little offense. Three quarterbacks combined to complete just 13 of 32 passes and the running game was held to just 41 yards. The NFC scored only three points in the final 50 minutes.

The turning point:

1. After the first quarter ended with the NFC leading, 10-0, the AFC scored its first points on Denver quarterback John Elway's 22-yard touchdown pass to Pittsburgh tight end Eric Green. The TD came after San Diego's Natrone Means ran 41 yards to the NFC 47-yard line and Elway completed a 5-yard pass to Tim Brown on 4th-and-2 to the NFC 34.

Notable: O.J. Simpson's 22-year-old Pro Bowl rushing record (112 yards) was broken twice in the game. Seattle's Chris Warren carried 14 times for 127 yards before being replaced late in the contest by Faulk, who ran 41 yards on the next play to surpass Warren. Faulk later ran 49 yards off a fake punt for the game's final touchdown. . . . Redskins linebacker Ken Harvey and Chargers linebacker Junior Seau each made a game-high seven tackles. . . . There were no fumbles. . . . The NFC leads the Pro Bowl series, 14-11.

Quotable: Faulk: "To have a big game here means a lot. I ran behind an All-Pro line, and it showed. We just blew them off the ball."

DOLPHINS CAN'T BE BEAT

In 1972, the Miami Dolphins became the first team in modern NFL history to finish a season unbeaten and untied as they won all 17 of their games and beat Washington, 14-7, in Super Bowl VII. The Dolphins paced the league in both points for and points against in regular-season play. Miami's ground-oriented offense was led by running backs Larry Csonka, Jim Kiick and Mercury Morris, while tackle Manny Fernandez, linebacker Nick Buoniconti and safeties Dick Anderson and Jake Scott led the team's "No-Name Defense."

A LONG WAIT ENDS

The Pittsburgh Steelers won their first NFL title with a 16-6 victory over Minnesota in Super Bowl IX. Franco Harris carried 34 times for a Super Bowl-record 158 yards to help Steelers founder Art Rooney visualize his dream of an NFL championship after 42 years of ownership. Before winning the AFC Central Division title in 1972 (their first championship of any kind; their second came in 1974), Rooney's Steelers had finished last 11 times, fourth 10 times and second six times since entering the NFL in 1933.

A SUPER SLUMP

The Minnesota Vikings' knack for losing Super Bowls continued in January 1977 as the Vikings lost in the NFL's big game for the fourth time in eight years, including three of the past four seasons. Minnesota's latest setback was a 32-14 loss to the Oakland Raiders, who jumped out to a 16-0 halftime lead and never looked back. The Raiders rolled up 429 total yards in offense and held Chuck Foreman, the Vikings' star running back, to 44 yards on 17 attempts.

THE BEST EVER?

Such things are subjective, but the 1978 Pittsburgh Steelers could make a legitimate claim for being the best team in NFL history. With Terry Bradshaw at quarterback, Franco Harris at running back and Lynn Swann and John Stallworth at wide receiver, the '78 Steelers steamrolled the rest of the league. Of their 17 victories (including playoffs), 11 were by 10 points or more. The club's two defeats totaled 10 points. Pittsburgh's "Steel Curtain" defense of Joe Greene, Jack Ham, Jack Lambert and Mel Blount (all Hall of Famers) yielded a league-low 195 points during the regular season. When the Steelers edged Dallas, 35-31, in Super Bowl XIII, it marked their third league championship in five years.

BEGINNING OF A DYNASTY

NFL fans got a peek of things to come in 1981 as the San Francisco 49ers won the first of what would become five Super Bowl championships for the franchise. Although their running game scared few opponents, the 49ers' passing game certainly did. Joe Montana completed a league-high 64 percent of his passes and Dwight Clark caught 85 passes, tops in the NFC. Defensively, San Francisco allowed the second-fewest points in the league after finishing 26th in that department the year before. The 49ers thrived despite starting three rookies in the secondary. One of them, Ronnie Lott, was voted to the Pro Bowl.

As a result of a 57-day players' strike, the 1982 NFL regular season schedule was reduced from 16 weeks to 9. At the conclusion of the regular season, a 16-team Super Bowl Tournament was held. Eight teams from each conference were seeded 1 through 8 based on their records during regular season play.

Miami finished ahead of Cincinnati based on a better conference record. Pittsburgh won common games tiebreaker with San Diego after New York Jets were eliminated from three-way tie based on conference record. Cleveland finished ahead of Buffalo and Seattle based on better conference record. Minnesota, Atlanta, St. Louis and Tampa Bay seeds were determined by best won-lost record in conference games. Detroit finished ahead of New Orleans and the New York Giants based on a better conference record.

PRO FOOTBALL STRIKES OUT

The NFL was hit by its first in-season work stoppage in history on September 20, 1982, when the players union, unhappy that an impasse had been reached on a new collective bargaining agreement with management, called a strike. When play resumed November 21, the two-month layoff seemed to have had a varying effect. Tampa Bay, for example, may have been helped. After an 0-2 start, the Buccaneers righted themselves to win five of their last six games and qualify for the playoffs. Defending league-champion San Francisco, however, was hurt. The 49ers began the year 0-2 and didn't regain their footing when the season resumed. The Dallas Cowboys, losers of the previous two NFC title games, weren't affected much at all. They went on to lose their third consecutive conference championship game.

BIG BAD BEARS

The Chicago Bears dominated pro football in 1985 like few teams in NFL history, winning all but one game during the regular season and outscoring three opponents, 91-10, in the playoffs (two by shutout). The Bears, in fact, were so confident of their eventual Super Bowl triumph that a number of them recorded a video, The Super Bowl Shuffle, weeks before the playoffs even began. As it turned out, the players were right. The Bears' 46-10 victory over New England was the most lopsided in Super Bowl history. Chicago's defense allowed the fewest points in the league, its offense scored the second-most, and a league-high nine Bears made the Pro Bowl.

COWBOYS' STREAK ENDS

In 1986, sports fans witnessed something they hadn't seen in a generation—a losing season by the Dallas Cowboys. Beginning with their 10-3-1 record in 1966, the Cowboys compiled a string of 20 consecutive winning seasons, the longest of any NFL team and the third-longest such streak in pro sports history. Only the New York Yankees, who had a 39-year streak from 1926-64, and the Montreal Canadiens, who had a 32-year streak from 1952-83, put together longer streaks of consecutive winning seasons.

NINERS ARE FINER

In 1988 and '89, the San Francisco 49ers became the first team since the Pittsburgh Steelers a decade earlier to win back-to-back Super Bowl titles. San Francisco's latest two Super Bowl victories, however, were as dissimilar as night and day. The 49ers' 20-16 victory over Cincinnati in January 1989 was one of the most dramatic in Super Bowl history, undecided until Joe Montana hit John Taylor with a 10-yard scoring pass with 34 seconds left. A year later, San Francisco beat Denver, 55-10, as Montana threw five TD passes in one of the worst thrashings in Super Bowl history.

BILLS BUFFALOED

Symmetry-wise, the 1990 NFL season was a strange one. In the AFC, all three division races were close, with the Buffalo Bills and Los Angeles Raiders winning their divisions by one game and the Central Division winding up in a three-way tie for first. In the NFC, the races looked more like runaways as the Giants, Bears and 49ers dominated. So what happened in the two conference title games? The Bills blew out the Raiders and the Giants edged the 49ers, setting the stage for one of the most memorable Super Bowls ever. The Giants nipped the Bills, 20-19, when Buffalo's Scott Norwood misfired on a 47-yard field goal attempt with eight seconds left.

COACHING CAROUSEL

The biggest coaching turnover in 14 years occurred in 1992 as nine coaches debuted with new teams. Two of them—Chuck Knox of the Rams and Ted Marchibroda of the Colts—were returning to clubs they had coached previously, while two others (Seattle's Tom Flores and Tampa Bay's Sam Wyche) had prior NFL head-coaching experience. Of the five first-time coaches, three led their teams to division championships: Pittsburgh's Bill Cowher, Minnesota's Dennis Green and San Diego's Bobby Ross.

The old system was less equitable, yet similar to the new in that the rating was based on percentage of completions, touchdown passes, percentage of interceptions and average gain in yards.

*This chart includes passer rating points for all leaders, although the same rating system was not used for determining leading quarterbacks prior to 1973. The old system was less equitable, yet similar to the new in that the rating was based on percentage of completions, touchdown passes, percentage of interceptions and average gain in yards.
